Russ Reject 2 Disarm Proposals

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union refused today to join the West in declaring outer space off-limits for military weapons unless the Western powers agreed to destroy their nuclear weapon stockpiles at the same time.

A Soviet spokesman also rejected a Western proposal that the United States and Russia freeze the level of their armed forces immediately at 2,500,000 men each.

Alexi Roschin, a Soviet delegate to the 10-nation Geneva disarmament conference, told a news conference the troop freeze proposal was "a step backward."

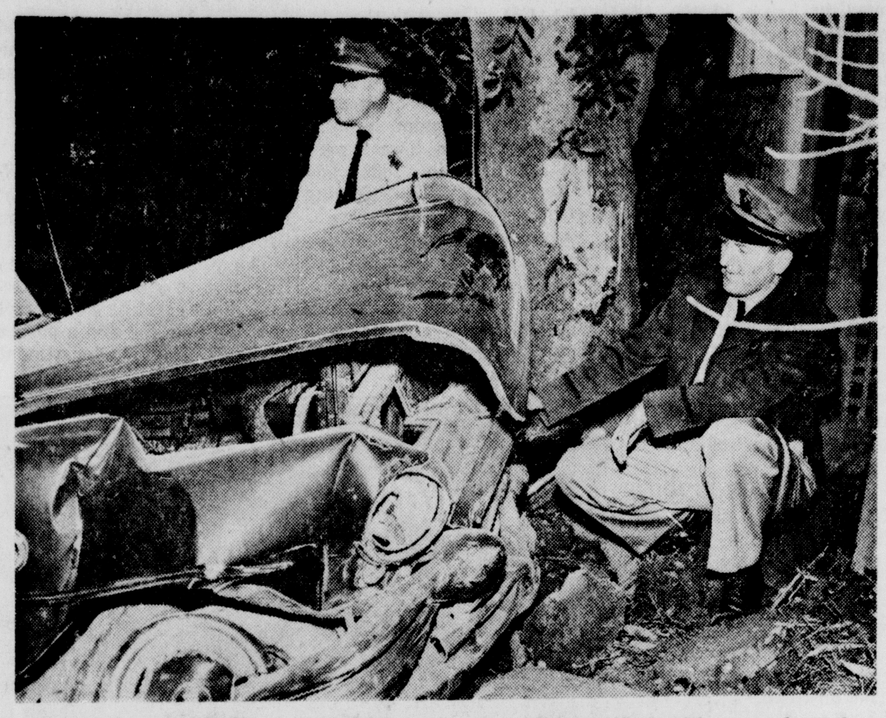

The twin Russian rejections were announced after a conference session in which the West called on Russia to join it in banning nuclear rockets scrapping existing nuclear warheads.

The United States, the conference was warned, would not pull its troops out of Europe until this and other vital stages of an East-West disarmament agreement were completed.

In another conference going on at Geneva, the Russians suggested that a nuclear weapons testing truce proposed by Moscow should last four or five years."

Soviet Delegate Semyon Tsarapkin told the nuclear test ban conference the moratorium period would give East-West scientists a chance to perfect control measures for hard-to detect underground tests.

It was the first indication given by the Russians as to the desired length of the moratorium on small underground tests they proposed last Saturday.

END OF TRAIL FOR ESCAPEE— A 17-year-old boy from Marin Juvenile Hall stole this car from Hamilton Air Force Base last night and led police on 110-mile-per-hour chase. The chase ended with a crackup that destroyed the car and injured the runaway. Larkspur Officers Charles Newman and John Cottle examine damage. (George Wheeler photo)

Juvenile Escapee Cracks Up Stolen Car After Wild Chase

A 17-year-old boy escaped from Marin Juvenile Hall, led police on a 110-mile-per-hour chase in a stolen car, and demolished the car in a crackup in Larkspur about 3 a.m. today.

Sheriff's deputies nabbed the youth in front of 705 Magnolia avenue and sent him to Marin General Hospital in an ambulance. Doctors took six stitches in his scalp, then turned him over to deputies, who booked him at Marin County Jail.

The youth, son of a Hamilton Air Force Base sergeant, was held for Hamilton officials.

The youth was reported missing from Marin Juvenile Hall last night. He had been there about a month as a runaway.

About 3 a.m. today, Deputy Sheriff Harvey Teague spotted a 1955 hardtop headed slowly along the service road near Hamilton Field. When Teague stopped the car and asked for a driver's license, the driver reached into his pocket as if to comply, then suddenly stepped on the gas.

Teague said the youth's car hit 110 miles per hour heading south on Highway 101 near Puerto Suello Hill, shooting past two officers at both ends of San Rafael. He turned off at Greenbrae intersection then left onto Bon Air road.

The young driver made it past Marin General Hospital and over Bon Air Bridge, but on Magnolia avenue, he lost control. The car spun out onto the shoulder and hit a utility pole and a tree. It also ripped out some wooden stairs and knocked down a mail box.

The car was stolen from Airman Tommie Hicks of the 78th Air Base Group at Hamilton Field. He had parked it near Building 707. The key was not in the ignition.

The youth was being held at the juvenile hall for transfer to California Youth Authority when he broke out.

Crashing Jet Nearly Hits School; 3 Die

DENTON, Md. (AP) — A B57 military jet narrowly missed a school and crashed into a house at this eastern shore town today, killing three persons and injuring the pilot.

State police said the dead were Mrs. Willard Brown and two pre-school aged grandchildren, both unidentified.

A number of persons said they saw the two-engine plane plummet to the earth, missing the Lockerman Consolidated School for Negroes by about 25 feet.

The pilot, tentatively identified as Capt. William F. Smith, of Baltimore, ejected himself from the plane and landed about a half mile from the crash. He was taken to Easton Memorial Hospital with compound fractures of both legs.

Debris from the plane broke several windows in the school while the pupils were in the classrooms. School Supt. Wilbur S. Hooperngardner said he didn't believe any of the children were injured.

Smith was the only person aboard the plane.

The home of John P. Hammond, next door to the Brown home, also was damaged by flames resulting from the crash. Hammond, principal of the Lockerman school, was a patient in a Baltimore hospital.

His wife, a school teacher, was away at the time.

Mrs. Brown and the two young children were the only ones in the other house when the crash occurred. Her husband was away.

Final Greenbrae Road Bids Called

The state Division of Highways today called for bids on the third and final phase of construction of the Greenbrae interchange on Highway 101 in Corte Madera and Larkspur.

The project, expected to cost $1,240,000, will provide an off-ramp for northbound traffic.

In all, the Division of Highways asked for bids on more than 17½ million dollars in highway construction.

Marin Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich was called to Sacramento today to testify on the alleged confession of Barbara Graham before she was executed for the pistol-whipping slaying of Mabel Monahan, wealthy Los Angeles widow.

Assemblyman Bruce Allen, a member of the Assembly Criminal procedure committee, called Weissich on the telephone about 10 a.m. today and asked him to appear before the committee. Weissich was expected to tell the committee what he had heard from the late Warden Harley O. Teets.

According to Weissich and Associate Warden Louis Nelson, Teets told them how Miss Graham had confessed the killing before she was executed. The alleged confession has been challenged by a nurse who was with Miss Graham during her last days at the prison.

Corte Madera Candidate Leaves Race

Council Aspirant Fails To Meet Rule On Residence

Kenneth G. Hoag withdrew his candidacy for the Corte Madera Town Council today after discovering he failed to meet the one-year residence requirement for council candidates.

His action reduced the field of candidates to three: Incumbent Mayor Roger F. Morse, Ray L. DeYoung and Jack I. Miller.

Hoag said Town Clerk Naydeen Penny informed him that the state Government Code requires council candidates to be city residents for one year prior to the date newly elected councilmen assume office (this year, April 19.)

MOVED FROM S. F.

The 28-year-old insurance broker said he moved from San Francisco last October to an apartment at 777 Meodowsweet drive, outside the Corte Madera limits. He announced his candidacy the same month. He had operated his insurance business in Corte Madera since December, 1958, while still residing in San Francisco.

One requirement of a council candidate is that he be a registered voter of the municipality in which he seeks election. Registration deadline for the April 19 municipal election was Feb. 18.

To satisfy that requirement, Hoag said, he moved Feb. 17 from the Meadowsweet drive address to a house at 21 Key Largo Course in Corte Madera's Mariners Cove, and changed his registration to the new address.

HOME OF PARENTS

In announcing his candidacy last October, he gave 3 Harbor drive, Corte Madera, as his address. He explained today that this was the home of his parents and that he had used it as his mailing address pending the move to Mariners Cove. Labor Dispute Over, HAFB Work Resumes

Construction of the $7,500,000 Capehart housing project and other projects at Hamilton Air Force Base resumed today after settlement of a five-day labor dispute involving the base, the Painters Union and a non-union painting contractor.

Federal Mediator Ralph Patterson said base representatives agreed to see that H. V. McNair Paint Co. adhered to working rules more stringently. The base will cut down on the amount of work to be given McNair, allocating him just enough work so he will not be required to work his employes more than 40 hours a week, Patterson said. McNair had been on the job six and seven days a week, according to the mediator.

Painters Union Local 83 began picketing the base last Monday afternoon, and charged that McNair did not pay union fringe benefits and failed to pay overtime.

Commissioner Patterson said the Air Force could not cancel its contract with McNair.

Harry Bigarani, executive secretary of the Painters District Council in San Francisco, said there was no settlement of the question of fringe benefits because McNair was a non-union contractor and had re-

Many More Wounded In Racial Outbreak

VEREENIGING, South Africa (UPI)—Police opened point blank fire today on rioting, stone-throwing Africans in the nearby village of Sharpville, killing at least 34 and wounding more than 60.

A high police official said he did not know how many had been killed. His comment on the stone-throwing mob was: "If they do these things they must learn their lesson the hard way."

The rioting was part of a series of racial outbreaks throughout the Union of South Africa to protest laws requiring Africans to carry passes at all times. Passes are not required for whites.

The South African government sent in jet fighters and light bombers as a show of force but they did not fire on the Africans.

A UPI correspondent counted 34 bodies, including eight women, before being ordered to leave the Sharpville area, where the worst shooting occurred. The streets were littered with bodies and it was impossible to determine how many were injured.

The Vereeniging hospital said more than 60 persons were being treated there. There were so many casualties many had to be treated on the lawn outside. Only the most seriously wounded were admitted to the hospital.

The Sharpville riot was the most serious of a group of incidents in a cluster of villages about 40 miles south of Johannesburg. About 5,000 Africans protested outside police stations in Capetown but there was no violence.

Today was the opening day of a campaign by the 31,000 member Pan-African Congress against laws requiring Africans to carry passes giving full names, ages, occupation and other information. Many Africans went to police stations in

New Schools Chief Named For Fairfax

Homer L. Sisk, longtime principal of Manor School in Fairfax, was named today as Fairfax School District superintendent. He will take over July 1, on dissolution of the Fairfax-San Anselmo-Kentfield school confederation.

The Fairfax School District board met this morning and decided to offer Sisk a three-year contract at $11,000 per year, announced Mrs. Faye Jensen, board chairman. The search for a superintendent began last November, with 21 applicants.

The trustees thus decided to stay within their own district in choosing an administrator to guide Fairfax schools on their difficult "go-it-alone" road—which will be the more difficult, the trustees said, because of a second voter turndown last Tuesday of a proposed tax rate increase.

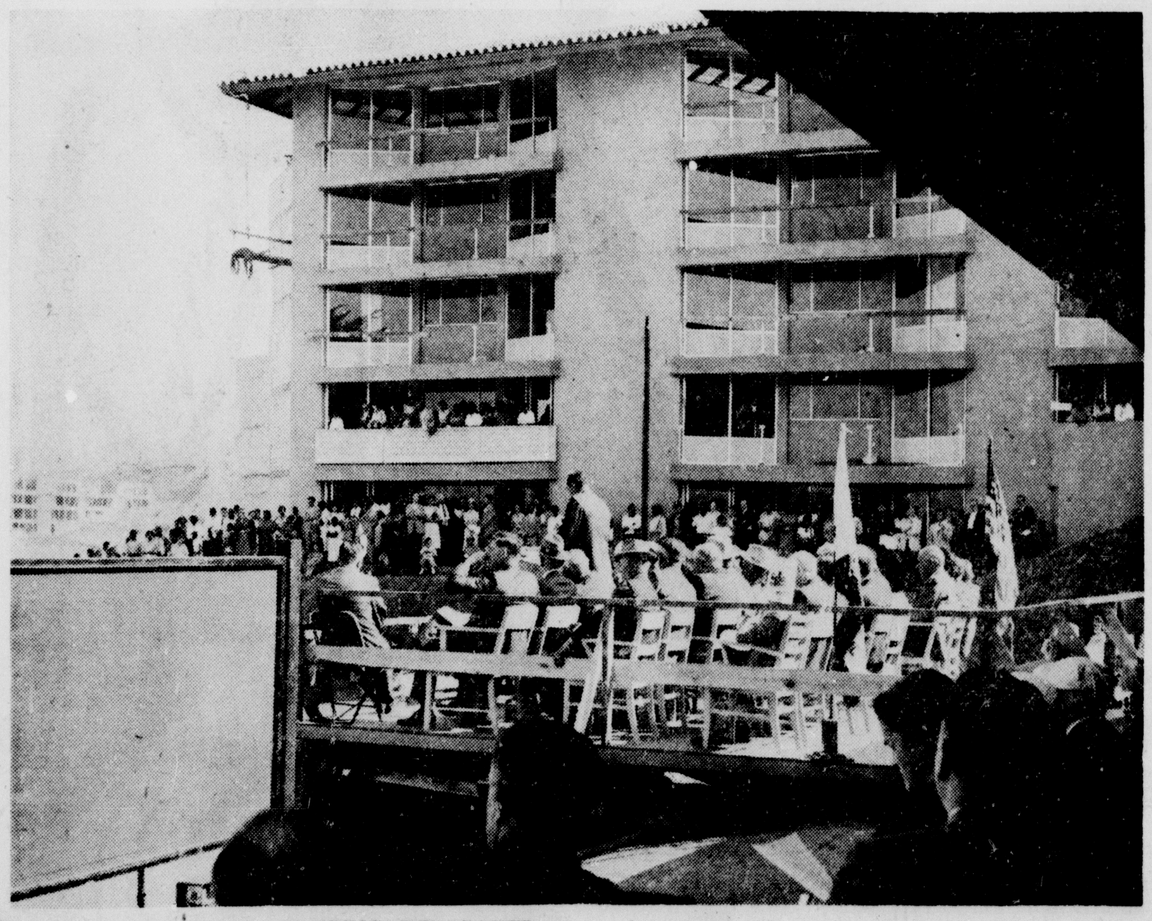

Sisk, who is 55, has been principal of Manor School for 20 years. Previously he taught for two years at Lompoc in Santa Barbara County and eight and one-half years at Seal Beach in Orange County.

He was born in Chico, and received his bachelor's degree from Chico State College. He has taken post graduate work at University of Southern California.

He and his wife, Wilma, reside at 220 Van Winkle drive in Sleepy Hollow. They have a son, William, a resident of El Segundo.

Choice of Sisk to head the Fairfax district completed the superintendencies for next year for the three districts which have been confederated under one head. And none of the three went outside Marin

Marin City Buildings Await First Tenants

The first completed residential buildings of the Marin City Public Housing Development, dedicated Saturday, are expected to be occupied by April 1.

The two, three and four-bedroom structures stretching across the Marin City hills cost $3,738,000 to build and have been planned for persons earning less than $5,000 annual income.

County Supervisor Vera Schultz cited the tall, concrete buildings as the "successful culmination" of seven years of decisions by the board of supervisors and the Federal Housing Administration.

A small crowd stood on a hill opposite the administration-maintenance building to watch the dedication ceremony.

Mrs. Schultz recalled that a citizen committee of 31 members had made the decision to transform the temporary housing project thrown up during World War II to a "permanent, beautiful part of Marin."

Architect Aaron G. Green stressed that the structures were designed to facilitate family living. The 40 apartment units are poured concrete buildings topped with red tile roofs. Sliding floor-to-ceiling windows and concrete patios overlook Richardson Bay. Patios and service yards are in the rear of the buildings.

Twenty-two additional buildings are expected to be finished by the end of the year. The project eventually will integrate public and private housing. Apartment units and single-family dwellings will re-

Legislature Starts Race Against Time

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Legislature started a race against time today to complete action on a mammoth $2,500,000,000 budget before the constitution deadline.

Both houses must adjourn the budget session by midnight Saturday although a special session, which is running at the same time, may last as long as the lawmakers want to stay in session.

Neither house as yet has even voted on Gov. Edmund G. Brown's spending proposal.

READY TO ACT

The Assembly should be ready to act on the budget after Ways and Means Committee action last Friday in approving a total of $2,472,500,000 to operate state government for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The figure approved by Ways and Means is $4,500,000 less than the governor asked for—but the cuts in the main were deferments of building projects.

However, the lower house money committee did chop out $900,000 earmarked for operation of the state Disaster Office, trimmed $300,000 allocated for two mental health day-care clinics and cut the Department of Corrections by $975,000.

TAX CUT BILLS

In the Senate, there appeared to be more concern over tax cut bills than action on the budget.

The Senate Finance Committee did the unexpected last Friday by sending to the floor with a "do pass" recommendation bills which would cut state taxes by 20 million dollars. The Senate committee took the action in the face of a clear-cut promise by Brown to veto any and all tax reduction measures this year.

One bill by Sen. James J. McBride (D-Ventura) would conform state personal income taxes to federal standards at a cost of $4,600,000.

McCARTHY BILL

The other bill by Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) would exempt from the sales tax all drugs, medicines and prosthetic devices at a loss in state revenue of 15 million dollars plus another four million reduction to cities and counties.

Aside from the budget-tax issues, the Legislature still has to dispose of special session calls on air pollution control, higher education, a 300-million-dollar bond issue for school construction, a 400-million-dollar issue for veterans' farm and home loan program and about 30 minor items.

Demos Laud Brown On 2 Controversial Issues

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California Democrats have firmly backed Gov. Edmund G. Brown on his stand on two of his most controversial issues—narcotics and the death penalty.

The California Democratic Council yesterday repeated the earlier action of the state Democratic Central Committee in giving its unanimous approval to Brown's decision calling a special session of the Legislature on narcotics.

The council congratulated Brown for refusing to give in to requests for "panic button" laws on narcotics that "salve the public conscience but don't solve the problem."

It also praised Brown for his "outstanding message to the Legislature on abolishment of the death penalty." It urged party leaders to continue to work toward the abolishment of capital punishment.

The state Central Committee earlier in the weekend meeting had added its praise for the governor's intention to veto any tax cutting measures passed during the Legislature's current budget session.

Meanwhile, Brown got in a few words of praise for his fellow party members.

"Here in the vice president's (Richard M. Nixon's) own state, he is disclosed to be trailing two of the leading Democratic candidates by substantial margins and to be losing ground to others," Brown said at a Democratic breakfast.

"I think we are leading the way not only because we know Mr. Nixon so well, but because of the kind of record you have helped us write in Sacramento," the governor said.

Monterey Group Plans Initiative On Death Penalty

MONTEREY (AP)—A Monterey organization says it will launch an initiative petition to abolish the death penalty in California.

The petition will be filed in Sacramento next Saturday, said Winston Elstob, executive secretary of the Monterey Peninsula Committee for Abolition of Capital Punishment.

Elstob told a press conference his three-weeks-old organization has 1,000 members.

"Capital punishment is going to go the way of its medieval counterparts — torture and trial by ordeal," he said. "We are fully confident that our measure to repeal will be on the November ballot."

Inverness Garbage Firm Changes Hands

The Inverness Garbage Disposal Co. has been sold to Dino Lucchesi of Inverness Park and E. H. Lindelli, 159 Tunstead ave., San Anselmo, it was announced by Pete Pastorino, former owner of the business.

Pastorino, who said he was forced to retire because of his health, said the new owners would operate the business as before.

Crowd Cheers, Officials Rant As U.S. Envoy Lands In Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal got a cheering welcome back from 500 Cubans yesterday but ran into a new barrage of anti-American blasts from two top Castro government officials.

Arriving with a smile, the American envoy made no mention of finding the official atmosphere as hostile as when he left Havana in a protest two months ago.

"I am glad to be here," Bonsal told an airport crowd that included some foreign diplomats. Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government did not send an official representative, but this was not unusual.

Bonsal said he would "do everything possible" to improve Cuban-American relations, now at a dangerously low ebb.

Only a few hours before the ambassador's plane landed, Cuba's economic czar, extreme leftlist Ernesto Guevara, told a radio audience the nation faces "economic war" with the United States. Guevara hailed the trade agreement Fidel Castro signed recently with the Soviet Union as the best trade pact Cuba has ever made. Guevara insisted it had no political implications.

Guevara asserted that American dollars are not really important to Cuba. He said their only value is for purchases abroad and Cuba can do that with sugar. Cuba's trade pact with the Soviet Union calls for Soviet purchase of five million tons of sugar in the next five years. One fifth of it, about 75 million dollars worth, will be paid in cash.

Another blast charging the United States with economic aggression came from President Osvaldo Dorticos.

The Cuban people will die "in revolutionary trenches" rather than submit through hunger to U.S. economic aggression, the president told a crowd of 17,000 at a rally to raise funds for arms and planes.

The crowd of 17,000 chipped in 250,000 pesos—$250,000 at the official rate in Cuba but a lot less on the world money market — and thunderously cheered Dorticos' assertion that Cuba would buy arms and planes "from whatever country makes and sells them."

There have been unconfirmed reports here that Cuba already has received MIG17 jet fighter planes from Communist Czechoslovakia.

Dorticos also denounced the Inter-American Press Assn., whose directors in a report Sunday said that the Cuban press, with two exceptions, is "so intimidated it cannot be considered a free press."

U.S.-Marked Plane Shot Down In Cuba

HAVANA (UPI)—A light plane with U. S. markings was shot down today by Cuban troops near Matanzas and its American pilot and five other occupants captured.

The pilot, identified as Leonard Howard, was wounded in the leg. He was given first aid before being taken to 4th Regiment headquarters at Matanzas for questioning.

The plane—a red-and-white Piper Comanche with registration numbers indicating it came from the United States—was brought down by machine gun fire in a field near La Carbonera, about 12 miles from Matanzas.

It was not immediately clear whether the plane was trying to land or to take off. It was believed to be engaged in trying to fly out Cubans classified as "war criminals."

Popular Author Dies In Apartment Fire

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Best-selling author Tom T. Chamales, 35, due to appear in court today to answer charges that he beat his wife, singer Helen O'Connell, died yesterday in a violent end to a violent life.

He died in his smoke-filled apartment despite a desperate effort to find his way to safety.

Firemen said he was asphyxiated while trying to escape. Smudged hand-prints on the wall showed where he had sought to feel his way to a door or window.

He was the author of the novels "Never So Few" and "Go Naked in the World."

Miss O'Connell was in a state of shock after she was told the news.

She asked a friend: "How shall I ever tell little Maria?"

Helen Maria, is the couple's 18-month-old daughter.

During their stormy three-year marriage, police were called to their home five times.

Chamales' first wife, Constance, charged in her 1957 divorce that he "cared more for drinks than for his family."

He is survived by two sons Thomas and Gerald, by his first marriage.

In Jhabua, a state of Central India, a medical dispensary was built to mark Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee in 1897.

Marin's First Census Counted Just 323 Heads

By DONALD G. DAVIS

One hundred and ten years ago Marin counted heads. There were 323, and that, apparently, was not counting cattle, sheep and California poppies.

Next month heads will be counted again, and so many digits will be added to the population figure that a resident of a century ago would become dizzy by the prospect of it.

A lot of history has washed by since the days when California became a state, and Marin has shared in this history and this growth.

Even by 1860 the population had grown by about 10 times, and still the number was only 3,334.

There were few roads then, more trails than anything else. And there were a lot of deer and birds. And there weren't and Marin Municipal Water District lakes. But there were wells.

The decade after 1860 saw a slower growth. The population just about doubled, but the rate of growth was less phenominal than before.

By 1880, the population was set at 11,324 and then there began a very slow period of growth. Each decade Marin has grown steadily and surely, but even by 1900 Marin still had only 15,702 inhabitants, according to the official census.

There weren't any bridges in those days, but automobiles were making their appearance, cautiously and against the snorting disbelief of horses and men alike.

Even by 1920 the figure was still small. Marin, of course, was still considered very definitely "the country," the kind of place where one had a summer home, and where you took a ferry boat for a picnic. It was still the wilds, in spite of electricity, modern plumbing, motorcars and filling stations.

The 1920 figure was 27,324, approximately a 2,000 figure rise from 1910. But compared with the figure of 70 years before, 1850's 323 seems really bucolic.

As for other California areas in 1920, Alameda county had more than 300,000; San Francisco more than half a million an Los Angeles almost a million.

Alpine County, never one for much of a population, had 243 in 1920. It had more than twice that number in 1870. Sonoma County had more than 50,000 in 1920, as did Contra Costa. Neighboring Napa County had about 20,000 inhabitants in 1920.

During the Roaring 20s Marin experienced another spurt of growth with the count at 41,648. The trains were running, but ferry boats still were being used. Other areas grew less rapidly. Napa County for example, gained only about 2,000.

On the eve of World War II, Marin soared to 52,907, the count in 1940, and by 1950, a decade ago, the official population was 85,619. The Golden Gate Bridge had been bringing traffic into Marin for more than 10 years. Subdivisions blossomed during the postwar building rush.

The past decade, too, has been one of tremendous growth. Along with many hundreds of new homes there has been an increase in industry and allied fields.

What the number is today no one knows for sure. That it is considerable more than 100,000 is a sure point.

Next month the federal census takers aim to find out. The census will not only provide Marin as a whole with new figures, but many of the cities as well.

In California, the population has risen from fewer than 100,000 in 1850 to more than 10 million for 1960.

Mrs. Penny said Hoag inquired about his status last Friday, after the situation had been called to her attention by several townspeople. She said she checked the Government Code and sent Hoag a letter outlining the requirements for a council candidate.

After receiving the letter Saturday, Hoag decided to withdraw from the race. He announced his decision yesterday to visitors at an open house held in behalf of his candidacy and that of Miller. The two had been running as a "team" slate.

"I will definitely have the requirements met by the next election and I definitely plan to run for the council in 1962," Hoag declared. "I feel I have made many friends and I hope they will back me when I run again. In the meantime, I am giving my wholehearted support to Jack Miller."

Should Be Lucky

MILWAUKEE (AP) — William H. Kaliebe figures he ought to be one of the luckiest men alive if there's anything to the legend of the four leaf clover bringing good luck.

The 55-year-old department store receiving clerk claims to have found about 2,000 four leaf clovers in the last 45 years. Moreover, he says he has plucked hundreds of five and six leafers, a few seven and eight leafers and even one 10-leaf job.

"They really aren't as rare as most people think," says Kaliebe.

Seal Study

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Tests on a mummified seal carcass found in the South Polar regions disclosed the animal died between 1,600 and 2,000 years ago, instead of just 100 years ago as it was first believed.

The remains were from one of 90 mummified seals counted near McMurdo Sound in Antarctica in 1957-58.

A report on the studies were contained in a scientific paper presented here by Troy L. Pewe, University of Alaska geologist; Norman R. Rivard, U.S. Geological Survey's Alaska Branch, and George A. Illano , National Academy of Sciences, Washington.

Old Estate Now Home For Elderly

SANTA BARBARA (AP)— On the remains of an estate where some of the country's best known families once visited, a row of shack homes has outlasted the owner's mansion.

The shacks house about a dozen elderly men who for more than 30 years have been the special guests of their late benefactress, Mrs. John H. Child.

The mansion, which in its day had Vanderbilts and Carnegies as guests, was razed last July. Vandals had wrecked the vacant structure.

Residents of this three-acre strip of the 16-acre estate are unmarried men who live on pensions, welfare bounties, and odd jobs.

Mrs. Child, widow of John Howard Child of the restaurant family, "never locked the doors of her mansion, no matter how many of us were here," oldtimers recall.

Their little domain, called Childsville, is in the southwest corner of the city, screened from nearby Highway 101 by eucalyptus trees. It has been city property for six years. Park Supt. Finlay MacKenzie says that the city as the new landlord has no plans to move the oldsters.

The deed at Mrs. Child's death in 1952 provided that the inhabitants could stay on until the park development took place.

MacKenzie said the city plans to develop the estate into a recreation area for all ages, with a children's zoo and aviary. A 50-acre municipal wildfowl preserve already flanks one side of the community.

"By the time this happens, most or all of the old men there will probably have passed away or will be taken care of by welfare authorities," MacKenzie says.

No new men are allowed to set up residence.

Childsville residents are confident nothing will happen in their lifetime.

They live well, with electricity, gas, and water supplied free of charge by the city. They have enough firewood and building materials to sustain them for years.

Moreover, a local organization provided them with a community house five years ago which contains a recreation room, hot showers, a TV set, and laundry facilities.

Two Quentin Inmates Make Suicide Tries

A San Quentin Prison inmate, intoxicated on paint fumes, tried to kill himself by slashing an arm with a razor yesterday, Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff reported today.

The attempt, by Ivor Steepin, 21-year-old San Joaquin County burglar, was the second suicide attempt within three hours at the prison, said Achuff.

The first, however, was an ineffectual one. Robbie Craig, 29, who was sentenced to an additional term of one year to life last Thursday in Marin Superior Court for his Jan. 7 prison escape, scratched his right arm with a broken light bulb. The scratch was disinfected and he was returned to his cell.

Steepin's attempt was more serious. He was found by a guard near midnight, bleeding from three deep razor blade wounds in his arm.

Achuff said Steepin was intoxicated. He said the prisoner apparently had "got on a jag" by sniffing rags soaked in paint thinner.

After treatment for his wounds in the prison hospital, Stepin was placed in the psychiatric ward for observation.

Spinal Defects Noted In Many Ucler Patients

by Dr. Robert W. Pearce

You can't enjoy life when you are suffering from stomach ulcers. Some of the first signs of ulcers are gas pains, indigestion and a swelling or bloated feeling.

Operations or diets sometimes bring temporary relief. But after a while that old ulcer acts up again unless you correct the real cause of the trouble.

German medical doctors have reported that they noticed spinal defects in 86 of 100 ulcer patients. Using Chiropractic methods, these German medical men restored their patients to health by eliminating the cause of the ulcers.

Research has disclosed that pinched nerves of the spine often interfere with the nerves controlling the digestive juices and cause a body imbalance. Ulcers then result when foods are unable to get their normal supply of these digestive juices.

Chiropractors use X-ray and other scientific methods to check for spinal defects. They are spine specialists and are able to correct such defects without hospitalization. Ulcer trouble generally goes away once the spine is corrected and the body is able to function normally.

Medical Mirror — WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT — Better Health Through Knowledge

Allergy to Work

- Cancer Spread
- Bloodshot Eyes

Q. People sometimes say that a lazy person is "allergic to work." Could this be possible from a medical standpoint?

A. Yes, in a way. Allergy to effort is a kind of physical allergy. Army doctors recently reported such a condition in a Fort Knox, Ky., soldier. The man broke out in welts after indulging in any strenuous activity. Symptoms were first noted when he was 14 years old. An eminent specialist confirmed the diagnosis of an exercise-type reaction. Although the man was otherwise healthy he was released from military service. True allergy to effort is rare. For most of us it's just laziness.

Q. How does cancer spread?

A. Cancer cells may grow from one tissue directly into another. They may break through the walls of blood vessels and be carried by the blood stream to other parts of the body. The cancer cells may also enter the lymphatics, which serve as a drainage system, and be carried to one or more lymph glands.

Q. My eyes become bloodshot on the slightest provocation. I have tried various eye drops and have worn dark glasses but this doesn't help. Would it help to have my regular glasses changed?

A. This sort of eye condition may be due to a wide variety of causes. There may be some local infection or mechanical irritation caused by dust, chemical fumes, strong wind, or extreme heat or cold. The first thing to do is pinpoint the cause and this can be done by a physician. New glasses might be suggested but eye symptoms of this kind are not often due to glasses that need changing.

CLASS GIVES TREES TO SCHOOL

Novato's Mayor Wayne Womack (center) was among dignitaries Friday at Olive Street School for dedication of eight trees planted at the school by Bernice Severance's fifth grade class. The trees were purchased from the Novato Nursery with $29 raised by the class through sale of popcorn which the youngsters popped, bagged and sold to their schoolmates. Noreen Napaltano, fifth grader, acted as master of ceremonies. (Independent-Journal photo)

Councilmen To Weigh Parking Issue Tonight

Parallel parking vs. diagonal parking on Fourth street will be discussed tonight at the San Rafael City Council meeting, which is set for 8 o'clock in the city hall.

On Feb. 15, city fathers voted 3-to-2 to change parking on main street from diagonal to parellel, but immediately rescinded the action to get public reaction on the proposal.

Proponents point out that parallel parking would widen the traffic lanes and improve traffic flow. Opponents argue that the change would cut down the number of parking spaces and would chase customers off Fourth street because parking parallel is too difficult especially for women.

Other items on tonight's agenda include:

1. Bid openings for a $30,000 reconstruction of C street and for a fire truck chassis to be equipped primarily to fight grass fires.

2. Rezoning for apartments a portion of East San Rafael Assessment District between Belvedere street, Canal street and Bellam boulevard.

3. Final maps of Scenic Heights Unit 2 and Terra Linda Unit 11.

4. Hiring of Charles R. Hickey as police officer at a monthly salary of $410.

2 Contrasting Musical Events Held In Marin

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Two widely differing music events took place Saturday in Marin: One, the ultimate in perfection of professional performance; the other, the trying of wings by fledglings in the musical arts.

In Broadus Hall of Golden Gate Baptist Seminary, some of 250 connoiseurs of "pure music" without literary connotations gathered Saturday evening to hear the joint recital of pianist Adolf Baller and cellist Gabor Rejto.

Presented under auspices of Mariedi Anders of San Francisco and the Music Teachers' Assn. of Marin County, it was an outstanding concert of the season of chamber music character. Appreciation of this program, together with that of concerts by the Marin Arts Quartet and the Quartetto di Roma, is added evidence that interest in this type of music is increasing in the county.

The mutually complementary performance of the two artists revealed not merely the virtuosity of technical dexterity, but that of the more subtle command of all resources of expression. This was especially noteworthy in cantabile or lyrical passages that showed the full tonal beauty of the cello.

The artists played a program of sonatas by the all-time masters of structure, Bach, Brahms and Beethoven, and a Debussy sonata that provided vivid contrast in its vague tonalities and rhythmic freedom.

Nicely balanced was the choice of works: Bach's Sonata in G Major in contrapuntal style with the rich harmonic structure of Brahms' Sonata in E Major and Beethoven's Sonata in A Major.

As an encore the artists played the adagio movement from the Sonata in F Major by Brahms.

Saturday afternoon at Redwood High School, Hugo Rinaldi showed what youngsters can do in a "Concert for Young People" presented by his Marin Youth Orchestra, which is sponsored by the Symphony Guild of Marin.

Rinaldi and Barry Mineah, director of the guild's "Music for Minors" series, seem to have the same gift for teaching and dealing with children. And both are to be complimented for not fearing to start them on the best music.

The Youth Orchestra gave a capable performance of Mozart's Concerto for Viola and Violin and Bach's Brandenberg Concerto No. 4. Pleasing soloists were James Reynolds, playing the viola, and Tom Reynolds, the violin, in the former; and Bob Talmage, the violin, and Pat Hurtado and Wendy Eisler, flutes in the latter.

Most unusual part of the program, and a good example of Rinaldi's talent for teaching music appreciation along with directing, was his explanation of Bach's style, together with a demonstration of recorders that were originally used in place of flutes in the Brandenberg concerto.

Performing this demonstration was Leo E. Christiansen, director of Marin's two recorder societies, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Duncan Green of the Mill Valley society.

The playing of Addison's Allegro by the Workshop for Strings, composed of fifth to eighth graders, must be judged by whether it is succeeding in its purpose. Since that purpose is to train beginners eventually to take their places in the Youth Orchestra, the answer was favorable.

But the delight of the afternoon for the audience of young in years and spirit was Saint Saens' musical joke, "The Carnival of the Animals," with Cheryl Lynn narrating Ogden Nash's verses with much poise and pianists Mary Larson and Alice Unrath showing significant potentilaities.

Auto Hits Tree; Airman Injured

A/c Robert J. Hubbard, 42, of 622 San Jose boulevard, Raphael Village, pressed hard on the brake pedal as he drove south of Highway 101 to turn left into the Hamilton Air Force Base main gate about 6 p.m. Saturday.

The pedal went down to the floor. The car crossed a traffic island and smashed into a palm tree. Hubbard suffered minor cuts and bruises.

He told the California Highway Patrol that he'd been told his brakes were out of adjustment, and to make sure of a good job, he had adjusted them himself.

While Hawaii's string of 20 islands extends more than 1,600 miles over the Central Pacific, its total land area of 6,423 square miles makes it one of our smallest states.

Volunteers Help Clear Fire Debris

A group of 15 volunteers from the Sausalito Yacht Club worked all day yesterday to give a start to the clearance of the debris at the burned-out Madden and Lewis boatyard in Sausalito.

James Enzensperger, Fred Crawford and Robin Hobart headed the group who helped load some of the remains of last Wednesday's fire into a truck to be hauled away. Mrs. Henry Bigan of the club's women's auxiliary supplied sandwiches to the crew.

Crawford said J. Herbert Madden and A. E. (Dick) Lewis have been interested in the club and helpful to it through the years, and the assist given yesterday was spontaneous on the part of the men.

Matron Notes 30th Year In County Post

Sheriff's Matron Vivian Costigan, 65, observed her 30th anniversary with the sheriff's office Saturday.

Since she joined the department on March 19, 1930, she has served under four different sheriffs. Richard Keating was serving as sheriff when she came, followed by Walter Sellmer, David Menary Sr., and now Louis P. Mountanos.

Mrs. Costigan said she has never had any trouble with any of the women inmates who have come and gone from the county jail over the three decades. She is known as a quiet, pleasant, and tolerant matron, who scarcely ever raises her voice.

"There is no need to," she said, "because if you feel for human beings, you can make yourself understood without shouting."

She lives at 6 Alvina street, San Rafael, with her husband, Robert Edward Costigan, retired foreman of the California Packing Co. They have been married for 47 years.

Student Needn't Salute Flag, S.F. Board Told

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The legal adviser of the San Francisco Board of Education says a schoolboy who doesn't want to salute the flag doesn't have to.

The boy, a high school honor student, had been told that he couldn't participate in his school's extra-curricular activities until he joined his classmates in their daily salute.

But the board of education's legal aide, Irving G. Breyer, said today a U.S. Supreme Court decision affirming the right of Jehovah's Witnesses not to salute the flag applied to other conscientious objectors as well.

He recommended that the board eliminate "capricious dissenters" by requiring written permission from parents or guardians of youngsters who claim their conscience prevents them from pledging allegiance to the flag.

Fairfax To Set Chief Exam

Fairfax City Council will meet at 7 p.m. today to hear a resolution calling for an examination for the chief of police.

The resolution has been drafted by City Atty. Wallace S. Myers. The temporary term of Acting Chief Clifton C. Cordes will expire April 15. Cordes has been acting since the death of Andy J. Peri last December.

The police department will give a test March 29 to create an eligible list for patrolmen.

FOX HUNT TURNS INTO FIASCO; BOY GETS BITTEN, DAD SHOT

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A neighborhood fox hunt in suburban Fair Oaks yesterday turned into a fiasco.

Billy Kaestner, 10, spotted the fox first. It bit him.

Adults shooed the fox, sought because it appeared ill, into the garage of Walter Van Horn and called the sheriff's office.

Deputies came and shot the fox with a sawed-off shotgun.

Some pellets went through the garage door and hit William D. Kaestner, Billy's father, in the head. He was 100 feet away and they caused only scalp wounds.

The fox was rabid, so Billy must undergo painful rabies shots.

Wind Blamed In Car Crash

It was an ill wind that hit the small car driven up Highway 101's Waldo Grade north of Spencer avenue by Nora T. McAuliffe, 38, of St. Vincent's School Saturday night.

"I was in the middle lane about 50 miles an hour and could feel the wind pushing me to the right," she later told the California Highway Patrol. "I didn't want to change lanes, put on the brake, and spun twice."

About 10 feet of guard rail was ripped loose in the resulting crash and Miss McAuliffe suffered cuts and bruises but said she would be treated by her own doctor.

Couple Injured When Auto Collides Head-On With Bus

A passenger car collided head-on with a Greyhound bus at 4 a.m. Saturday on Highway 101 in North Marin, with injury to the car driver and his wife.

Richard A. Ball, 36, of San Francisco let his southbound car cross a divider strip 700 feet north of Hamilton Air Force Base main gate.

The northbound bus was driven by A. D. Szendontopt, 42, of Santa Rosa.

Ball was taken to Hamilton Base hospital with a possible skull fracture and his wife Dorothy, 39, was treated for cuts and bruises.

He was later transferred to San Rafael General Hospital but left yesterday afternoon against medical advice.

House Postpones Civil Rights Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House leaders, fearful of extended weekend absenteeism among civil rights backers, temporarily laid aside the issue today.

Speaker Sam Rayburn said the House probably would not resume work on the legislation until tomorrow.

The new strategy of delay was adopted by civil rights advocates, after Southern forces on Friday came within three votes of the administration's plan for referees to bolster Negro voting rights in the South.

Partly because of heavy absenteeism among northern members, the House on Friday by a margin of only 137 to 134 defeated an attempt to exempt purely state and local elections from the referee plan.

Despite the slowdown, Rayburn told newsmen he still hoped the House could finish action on the legislation within a day or two. But other members said it now looked as though it would take at least a week to finish it.

In the Senate, a southern senator charged that vice president Richard M. Nixon and other civil rights backers would "usury the rules" of that body if they take a short cut to senate consideration of the measure which the house is expected to pass.

The charge was made by Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala.), a member of the 18-man Southern bloc fighting civil rights legislation. He said he was preparing a major speech for delivery if Nixon rules that the Senate can take up the House measure directly and bypass the Senate Judiciary Committee headed by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.).

The Senate can consider the bill directly if Nixon rules in favor of the procedure and a majority of the members support him.

But, Hill said in a statement, "Senate rules clearly provide that all House bills, unless unopposed in the Senate, shall be sent to the appropriate committee for consideration and action before being debated and voted on by the full Senate.

Earlier, Senator Democratic whip Mike Mansfield (Mont.), predicted it would be at least another week before Congress could wind up its civil rights debate.

AF INVITATION TAKES CUE FROM DISPUTE

NEW YORK (UPI)—An Air Force invitation took wry note today of the controversy over Air Force manuals.

The invitation to an Armed Forces Day luncheon for Lt. Gen. William E. Hall, Continental Air Command commander for the northeastern United States, was issued in the form of a four-page "manuel" entitled "How To Hold a Press Luncheon."

'Copter Saves Injured Man From Rocks

A San Pablo fisherman probably owes his life today to a Coast Guard helicopter pilot and two other fishermen.

Charles Cope, 31, fell on seashore rocks Saturday afternoon near Muir Beach.

Two unidentified companions climbed a crag to call for help and two skindivers took Cope in a makeshift raft closer inshore.

Helicopter pilot Lt. Cmdr. Henry Castle lifted Cope to Highway 101 and a waiting ambulance.

He was given emergency treatment at Marin General Hospital for a broken left hip and then transferred to Brookside Hospital, Richmond.

His transfer from the hospital was at about 3:30 p.m.

Woman Jumps Off Dock On Dare, Injures Leg

A Vallejo woman jumped off the dock at Corinthian Yacht Club in Belvedere last evening on a dare and injured her leg when she landed on a float about five feet below, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Miss Carol Grahm, 31, of 727 Main street, Vallejo, was taken to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco for treatment. She is an IBM operator at Ft. Mason in San Francisco.

When Deputy Sheriff Frederick Marcus arrived at the dock, he found Miss Grahm on a stretcher being attended by port Capt. Boyd Thompson and Chief William Woodington of Belvedere. Witnesses said Miss Grahm jumped from the dock on a dare by Robert Mendes of Vallejo, who was there with Miss Grahm.

Books Losing To TV, Chicago Survey Finds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Television is up—comic books, radio, reading and movies are down—with modern youngsters, a Chicago educator says.

Youngsters spent an everage of 20 hours a week watching TV, "the electronic Pied Piper," he adds.

By comparison, old-fashioned reading for recreation "has relatively little appeal."

That's what professor of education Paul Witty of Northwestern University found in a survey of Chicago area grade school youngsters.

Reporting his findings to delegates to the 1960 White House conference on children and youth, opening next Sunday, Witty sugggests parents and teachers can help "to offset the threat" to reading. He advises that:

Parents set a good example by reading themselves and showing a liking for books.

Read children's stories aloud, plan and build home libraries with their children and join them in visiting public libraries.

If they plan family recreation that includes reading, children will be led to take TV along with a well-balanced and individual program of leisure.

And if TV programs are discussed as the basis for selecting books, Witty believes "children will undoubtedly read more."

Looking into the leisure habits of the Chicago school children and questioning some of their parents and teachers, Witty found:

Pupils in grades three to eight watched TV an average of 20 hours a week.

Those in grades nine through 12 averaged about 17 hours. Favorite programs, particularly among boys, were westerns, crimes and so-called shock programs.

Parents, although their taste in programs was a little different, watched an average of 20½ hours a week.

Teachers were still holding out a bit averaging 11 hours weekly.

Compared with nearly three hours a day spent at TV, the average youngster puts in just about an hour a day reading.

Time spent listening to the radio has dropped off sharply since the advent of TV.

There's less comic book reading nowadays and going to the movies has dropped to about once a week or once in two weeks.

Novato To Hear Another Planner

Novato City Council and Planning Commission will spend another evening looking for a city planning expert.

The two groups will meet at 8 p.m. today to hear a presentation by city and regional planner Herman Ruth of Berkeley.

The meeting will be the second at which planning consultant firms have made a sales pitch to the city. Last Thursday the council and commission heard Lawrence Livingston Jr. of Sausalito offer a tentative general plan.

Reed School Board To Discuss Budget

Reed Union School District trustees will discuss the priority items of capital outlay to be included in next year's budget at their meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the library of Bel Aire School.

Also on the agenda is the scheduling of the 1960-61 school calendar and a discussion of teacher salaries.

Mill Valley Plans Bicycle Auction

Two dozen bicycles—in various shapes and states of repair—will go on public auction in about a month in Mill Valley unless they are claimed by their owners.

Police Chief James P. McGowan said the lost and stolen bikes have been accumulating for about two years. "We would like to get them back to the kids," he said, "because to a kid a bike is like an automobile is to a grownup."

There are parts of bicycles, broken bicycles and bikes in good condition, McGowan said. Each is tagged as to when and where it was found and, if a youngster has lost his bicycle, he should check with Mill Valley police, according to McGown.

Court Reporters Organize Here

Five court reporters, who regularly take shorthand notes of legal proceedings in the Marin County Courthouse, have organized a group called the Marin Court Reporters and Associates.

Harvey Prather, its chairman, announced today that the court reporters organized to give attorneys better service in getting depositions (sworn statements taken outside of court).

Marin court reporters have a telephone answering service. Prather said his group may set up an office soon.

$31 Million Clears In Bank Checks

More than $31,000,000 in checks cleared the counters of the six Marin offices of the First National Bank in San Rafael between March 1 and March 15.

This figure compares to a total of $23,445,543 for the previous two week period and $24,521,000 for the same period last year.

DAILY NEWSPAPERS SELL FOOD FROM FARM TO FAMILY

THE FOOD INDUSTRY, biggest business in all the world, depends on the daily newspaper to help it move its many thousands of different items off grocers' shelves. In 1958 consumers spent a record $79,000,000,000 for food.

Food processors use the daily newspaper to keep consumers constantly aware of the brand names that appear on their packages and containers. They rely on it as the most important medium to carry news of over 6,000 new products they announce every year. Because food is news, they naturally turn to the world's outstanding news medium.

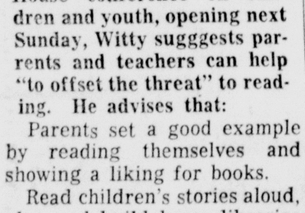

On the local scene the daily newspaper plays an equally efficient and important role for food distributors and retailers. For them the daily newspaper is an indispensable means of communication between them and the food-conscious housewife. It is indispensable because it generates immediate results.

All along the vital food line, from growers and processors to the hungry consumer, the daily newspaper, with a record circulation of 58,605,000 copies, performs a gigantic task of moving this mass of goods. It moves all kinds of products because it sells them nationally and locally.

3 Candidates In Running For 2 Seats In Corte Madera

Three candidates are running for two Corte Madera Town Council seats at stake in the April 12 municipal election.

They are incumbent Mayor Roger F. Morse, Ray L. DeYoung and Jack I. Miller.

Until today, a fourth candidate was in the race: Kenneth G. Hoag, 26, who announced last October he would seek a city council berth. Hoag, who was running as a "team-mate" of Miller, today announced his withdrawal from the contest. However, his name will appear on the ballet.

Expiring next month are the four year terms of Morse and Walter S. Long, both freshman councilmen. Long announced a year ago that he would not seek re-election in 1960.

Mrs. Naydeen Penny is running unopposed for the office of town clerk and Col. John R. Vance, also without opposition, is seeking election as town treasurer. They have held the offices by appointment since 1958.

Here, in brief, are the backgrounds of the four council candidates and their campaign statements:

ROGER F. MORSE, 39, was elected councilman in April, 1956, and named vice mayor the same year by his fellow council members. They elevated him to mayor last April 30.

A mechanical engineer, he is employed in the governmental relations department of Standard Oil Co. of California in San Francisco. He and his wife, Bequita, have four children, Martha, 16; Andy, 12; Robin, 3, and Nancy, 2. The family resides at 424 Oakdale avenue.

Morse was born in Brookline, N. H., and was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he also obtained a master's degree in engineering and business administration. He served in the Army in World War II and the Korean conflict.

He joined Standard Oil Co. 12 years ago in San Francisco and came to Corte Madera in 1952.

Declaring that Corte Madera, by many standards, is the fastest growing community in Marin, Morse promised continued support of the concepts of the town general plan for orderly growth and development.

He noted that the town is carrying out long-range street improvement, flood control and park development plans adopted in the last four years. In the long run, he said, properly engineered public works, constructed to high standards, "are the most economical because they result in low maintenance costs over future years."

Morse praised Corte Madera businessmen for making investments which he said demonstrate confidence in the town's future. He said sales tax revenue and a broadened property tax base enabled the council to cut the property tax rate about 10 per cent last year.

"I believe," he declared, "that careful management of the budget can result in a further tax reduction . . . while maintaining effective police, fire and other town services. . . "

Terming the proposed Larkspur-Corte Madera merger "a complex issue," Morse said that if re-elected he will "continue to work toward a solution of the many problems involved so that a clearly defined issue can be presented to the voters."

"It is absolutely necessary," he said, "that our councilmen be thoroughly familiar with school and sanitary district problems and work with the public bodies responsible for these activities to solve them."

Morse said he believes a councilman must "give fair and impartial hearing to all petitioners . . . without regard for personalities, wealth, or section of town, or eloquence" "at all times protect the interests of the absent and silent majority," "confine the use of public funds to necessary public works and services" and "guarantee at all times the freedom of the individual to exercise his property rights and enjoy his individual liberty."

RAY L. DE YOUNG, 32, is a member of the Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission, the Marin Estates Home Owners Assn. and the special services fund committee of Reed Union School District.

Born in Laurens, Iowa, he is a graduate of the University of Iowa and a veteran of two years in the Army. For the past nine years he has been a special agent for the San Francisco office of the California Compensation and fire Co.

De Young and his wife, Mariel, and year-old daughter, Joan, reside at 133 Granada drive in Marin Estates. They have lived in Marin County for three years, the last 18 months in Corte Madera.

As both a private citizen and town park and recreation commissioner, De Young has worked actively toward establishment of a playground in the burgeoning residential area east of Highway 101.

His election platform includes support of "more and better park and recreational facilities, but within a reasonable budget and logical priority."

De Young termed the town general plan "an excellent one" and said it is "imperative to the town's future that it be carried out. A vote for my candidacy will be a vote for continued support of the plan."

To make the plan work more effectively, he added, the five councilmen "must represent the town 'at large' rather than any one area or special interest group."

De Young said he also hopes to encourage greater interest and participation by the townspeople in Corte Madera's various commissions and committees.

"Keener interest here would provide the stimulus for a better and a healthier town," he declared.

JACK I. MILLER, 56, is a construction superintendent and a 15-year resident of Corte Madera. He lives at 12 Pepper avenue. He and his wife, Violette Lenora, have three children, Jack Arthur, 21; Dolores, 12, and Elizabeth ,10.

Holder of a general contractor's license, Miller has been superintendent of construction for the Glendale Construction Co. in Mariners Cove for the past three years. Before that, he did similar work for Rentz and Son in Madera Gardens and the late Columbus Pierce, San Rafael home builder.

Born in Lewistown, Pa., he attended Chester Business College in his native state for more than three years. He has been in the construction business since leaving college, working in Pennsylvania, Oregon, San Francisco and San Diego before coming to Corte Madera in 1945. He was a superintendent in the Consolidated Vultee aircraft factory in San Diego during World War II.

Miller is a member of Mill Valley Lodge, Royal Arch Masons, and of Masonic Lodge 620, San Diego.

Miller and Hoag had jointly announced a six-point platform, which Miller presumably will continue to espouse. It calls for:

1. Area representation on the town's five-member planning commission, with one representative from Madera Gardens, two from the residential area east of Highway 101 and two from the older section of town.

2. Preventive maintenance of town streets. ("Some of our streets," claimed Hoag, "are breaking up before they're paid for.")

3. Planned and orderly development of Corte Madera.

4. A public vote on the Larkspur-Corte Madera consolidation proposal.

5. A public vote on proposed capital expenditures for such projects as a municipal swimming pool or town civic center.

6. Improved street lighting.

Miller and Hoag said they decided to join forces after discovering they shared the same views on many local issues.

Election Aides Are Still Needed

County Clerk George S. Jones reported today he can still use more election officials to man the polls in the June primary election under a double-shift system which the county clerk is using for the first time this year.

Jones estimated he can use a total of 2,300 to 2,400 election workers.

In the past years, the inspector and his staff worked at each polling place from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. and then continued to count the ballots well into the night without additional help. This year, the county clerk plans to augment the day crew by bringing in a new crew at 7 p.m. to help count the ballots

On the day shift, the inspector will be paid $21 and other workers $18. Night crew members will get $8 for the evening's work.

INCOME TAX FACTS

'Other Deductions' Covers Many Items

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

You can deduct all the expenses you incur in the collection or in the production of taxable income including all the expenses of determining your tax liability, or contesting your tax liability, and this includes all kinds of taxes.

Peter J. Wikel

This section provides that an individual who has elected to itemize his deductions shall be allowed as a deduction all the ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year for the production or collection of income, or for the management, conservation, or maintenance of property held for the production of income, or in connection with the determination, collection, or refund of any tax.

"Other deductions" is the catch-all for the many non-business deductions which are too numerous for separate scheduling on Page 2 of Form 1040. Principal among these are the unreimbursed expenses of employees, (other than outside salesmen) for clerical help, stationery, business entertainment, union dues, uniforms, tools, and supplies, subscriptions to professional journals, etc.

• Other expenses which are deductible here are employment agency fees, amounts paid for the preparation of an income tax return, employees bond premiums and periodic alimony payments made to a divorced or separated spouse pursuant to divorce, a decree of separate maintenance or a separation agreement.

Commuting between your home and your place of employment is not considered a cost of earning your income and is not deductible.

San Rafael Bank Stock Sale Brisk

William P. Murray, president of the First National Bank in San Rafael and its affiliate, the Bank of San Rafael, today announced that the bank's 25,000 additional combined shares of stock were quickly sold. Sales began in February.

"We very soon found that our stockholders and many residents in this area were so eager to purchase First National Bank stock that the issue of rights was subscribed to the limit," said Murray.

The issue of the bank's rights expired last Monday. The rights were issued to the stockholders on the basis of one right for each share of stock owned and a total of six rights were necessary to entitle the shareholders to purchase one new share.

The issue of new capital stock will increase the outstanding combined stock of the San Rafael branches to 175,000 shares.

He was sentenced by Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court for driving while intoxicated along the Alto service road on Thursday. He had prior convictions for drunken driving in San Francisco in 1945 and in Richmond in 1952. Both of these were stricken from the records.

Glenn Drew Berry, 35, of 89 Taylor drive, Fairfax, must pay $100 fine and remain on one-year probation. He was caught on Highway 101 on Thursday. For six months, Berry may drive only for work and for family emergencies.

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished with extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan® Decongestant Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only 98¢ for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.

Gov. Brown Was Right But Stubbed Toe On Narcotics

Gov. Edmund G. Brown worked himself into a real snit last week. He was being badgered by members of his own party and by the Republicans. A group of Southern California High School students staged a crusade march on the State Capitol in Sacramento. He met with them, but the interview didn't come off so well.

Then he went into his press conference and he was minutely questioned by newsmen on the same topic, narcotics. He fumed and sputtered, making a poor impression on a contingent of Orange County newsmen who had made the trip north with the crusading youngsters.

Actually the governor was on pretty firm ground in his position. He had enunciated a straight-forward statement that he was not going to call a special legislative session on narcotics because "I am convinced that it would be impossible to work out and obtain agreement on a good, sound and vigorous legislative program" in the current special session—what with elections coming up and all.

He also pointed out that portions of the proposed new law have been challenged as unconstitutional, and that another proposal would change the basis of California's indeterminate sentencing system, an action which should take serious study all by itself.

Yet the governor was unable to get these points across either to the youths or to many of his fellow Democrats. In exasperation he told the "children," as he referred to them, that even if they came to the Capitol 1,000 strong next session, that they would not have any affect on his decision. A group of 65 disillusioned youths went back to Southern California.

The governor certainly could not be influenced by their unreasonable suggestion that the Fourth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, which prevents unlawful search or seizure of persons or homes, be repealed so that law enforcement officers could arrest narcotics law violators.

We've mentioned the Cahan decision in this space a couple of times before. This court ruling, which partially handcuffs police officers in collecting evidence has placed a real stumbling block in the way of narcotics enforcement. But the solution is not to give the police carte blanche to do as they please. Action to be taken needs and is getting study.

The governor's seven step program for increased narcotics crackdown is at least a sensible stop-gap until the legislature meets next January.

It is unfortunate that Governor Brown was not able to cope more successfully with the situation.

Welcome, Spring Equinox

This is the time of the vernal or spring equinox. Technically, this means that the sun is at such an angle to the earth that this day it is shining directly above the equator.

In more practical language it means the days and nights everywhere on earth are the same length this day. It also means that the sun is starting its northward course which will culminate in the longest day of June 21 in this hemisphere.

The spring equinox is widely heralded as the first day of spring in most parts of the country. But in Marin, with our long growing season due to the tempering influence of ocean and bay, spring in the form of flowers and blossoming shrubs and trees, has been with us for a month or more.

We hail the spring equinox with its promise of longer, more pleasant days to come. It foretells the lovely Marin evenings of summer. It means more daylight to make plants grow and more time outside for garden, porch and patio minded Marinites.

Welcome!

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Fairfax, Calif., A Fair City

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In this day of so much racial strife and fighting for equal rights, which is every United States citizen's constitutional right, it would be well for all Marin County and the rest of America where the problem exists, to take note of Fairfax, Calif., a Fair city in Marvelous Marin.

We are an average Negro family with four children, three of whom are in the public schools of Fairfax. Five years ago we bought a reasonably priced home in a nice neighborhood here, finer neighbors could not be found. They are peaceful, quiet and neighborly.

We find that same atmosphere prevailing throughout all of Fairfax, in the stores, in the shops and especially in the schools. The two principals of our very fine schools could certainly teach the principals of the strife-torn southern states a much needed lesson in basic intelligence.

The City of Fairfax is a fine example of quiet, peaceful and intelligent integration.

Board Upholds People, Planning

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Through personal experience I am fully aware of the problems of reporting ALL the news, ALL the time with ALL the facts. However it is rather apparent that not even my friend Chip Day was able to squeeze into the overflowing supervisors' chambers when the variance appeal of the Paradise Park Investment Company was being heard.

Had one of your reporters been present I'm sure he would have been highly impressed with the overwhelming opposition to the introduction of multiple dwelling in a highly restricted residential area. This opposition came not only from residents in the immediate neighborhood but from all parts of the Tiburon Peninsula and Marin County.

The fact that our Board of Supervisors would even give second consideration to such a blatent violation of a carefully designed master plan is rather frightening! That a tremendous effort on the part of individuals and civic organizations was necssary to prevent this violation does not favorably reflect upon a body elected to protect the interests of the people of Marin.

It is my belief that undoubtedly the apartments would have been allowed had it not been for the objections expressed in some 40 letters to the board; for the presence of 70-80 residents at the meeting; for the individual efforts of Dr. Fenimore Cady, co-chairman of the Paradise Property Owners Assn.; Peter Macgowan, chairman of the Tiburon Coordinating Council Wm. Van Lackum, T.C.C. land use committee chairman; Richard MacLaury, chairman Reed School District Trustees, and many others.

The Independent-Journal welcomes letters but reserves the right to condense or edit out salacious material.

But even this effort might well have been wasted were it not for the eloquent, logical and persuasive presentation by David D. Ring, representing the Tiburon Coordinating Council and a majority of the property owners on the Tiburon Peninsula. His most telling argument against rezoning to allow apartments merely for increased assessed evaluation was ". . . if the designers of the master plan had in mind only high tax revenue, they would have zoned it for multiple dwellings, supermarkets and even light industry . . . the matter of tax revenue should have absolutely no bearing on this case."

As there are some 100 acres zoned for multiple, available for development, on the Tiburon Peninsula there is absolutely no reason to encroach upon residential areas.

Roger Kent's argument that the proposed yacht harbor could not be supported by single family dwellings is refuted by the fact that Tim Mosely is doing exactly that in his development at Paradise Cay. Furthermore it was never explained how the proposed 230 slips would harbor yachts averaging $20,000 in value by families living in two bedroom apartments.

It is to be hoped that this action by the people, the Planning Commission and the Board of Supervisors will discourage further attempts of profit making at the expense of adequate, active master plans throughout the County.

Mayor Answers Grandi Complaint

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I have sent this letter to:
Lloyd Grandi
San Rafael

Recognizing your concern for the development of Elizabeth Way and the desirability from the viewpoint of all of San Rafael, particularly the residents of Rafael Highlands, that the problem be corrected soon, I think I should respond to your letters to the Independent-Journal.

As we have tried to stress over the several years of this controversy, it was not within the authority of Mr. Gonnason to accept the street or deny acceptance of it. Neither was it, or is it, within the authority of Dr. Aby or myself to accept the street or deny acceptance of it, or of any other improvement in connection with a subdivision development. Only the City Council, by a majority vote, can accept such facilities.

There seems to be little point to a discussion of the physical characteristics of Elizabeth Way, for it is clearly indicated that the Public Works Department of the City has never found it to be completed to the required specifications which are standard for all subdivisional developments.

When the Public Works Department can find the improvement developed to these standards and can recommend acceptance of the improvement to the City Council, I am sure the City Council will be glad to accept the street for future maintenance by public monies.

I hope you can see your way clear to develop the disputed stretch of Elizabeth Way to a point where we may accept it for maintenance in the immediate future.

BENNETT CERF

A film producer, operating on a shoestring, needed a fight scene to pep up the last reel of a new picture, and hit on an economical way to make it. He took his male star by the arm and said, "Rep, see that young couple at the corner waiting for a bus? I want you to start insulting the dame until her husband gets mad enough to take a sock at you. Then we'll start the camera rolling. Get the idea?"

The star got the idea. He bellowed at the bewildered lady, "You are about the worst-looking excuse for a human being I've ever laid eyes on. This fellow here is risking his entire reputation just being seen with you."

Did he get socked? Nothing of the sort. The husband was lost in thought for a moment, then declared triumphantly to his wife, "See? What have I been telling you for the past 10 years?"

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

In Crazy, Wonderful Sausalito, Election Speech Needn't Be Serious

Sausalito is a crazy, wonderful town. It's not big, but it's tall. Its head is in the clouds, its toes in the water. It knows how to live. It's snooty. It's down to earth. Sea lions like it; birds like it; people like it. And, what could be finer, Sausalito has wit.

Characterizing this wit, in a sense, were some of the quick replies of candidates for city council who spoke last week at the Sausalito Citizens town meeting. And, with wit, one man in particular—Serge Trubach—was the artist of the nine.

He came to the microphone casually and announced, "some people think I look more like a councilman than an artist. We all make mistakes." As soon as he uttered "mistakes" the mike conked out. So Trubach used this word two more times to test the mike and the audience laughed with him.

IN JEST, TRUBACH said many things which touched on the problems that city councilmen face — weekend traffic deluge, the master plan, keeping the waterfront beautiful, recreation.

"My main concern with the election is to get across the street on Bridgeway on Sunday afternoon to the Berkeley," Trubach said. "There are seven wonders of the world," he added, "Abraham Lincoln —one of the greatest councilmen in the world; the leaning Tower of Pisa, the Taj Mahal and four gas stations on Bridgeway."

More trouble with the mike. Laughter. "My campaign manager has gone to India to meet Ali Babi and the 40 vice presidents. They are rubbing their lamps," he said.

"THE MASTER plan in India . . . " Trubach mused. "They don't know whether to run the master plan through the Taj Mahal or around it. If they run it in front, it will take away the parking."

Trubach said they were thinking of making a restaurant of the Taj Mahal but the dome is non-conforming and too high. If they cut off the dome, he added, then rain will fall into the customers' soup.

"In other words, how are we going to master the master plan? I approve of the master plan provided the Almighty is the master."

"The people of Sausalito just want to look at the water," Trubach related. "They don't want to drink it. You don't have to have water to drink, you see, because we have enough cocktail and other places here."

On recreation, Trubach said: "where in the world could you have a better aquatic park than on the sandspit and a library, museum, city hall and police station. Where else? Instead of that—the way of all flesh."

ON THE CENTRAL business district: "from the business point of view the parking would be much better away from the central part of Sausalito. Just imagine when all the beetles (cars) are parked in front of the buildings.

"You won't see the waterfront and you won't see the city you won't recognize anything. You won't even see your wife. You'll think she's a parked car."

On restaurants: "if you give them two restaurants they'll make this renaissance better than the 15th Century.

ON PUBLIC FUNDS: "I see with Linton and Kerr, you have to pay as you go."

At this point, Trubach turned to Mayor Howard Sievers, a candidate for re-election, and said, "when the election comes around that Tuesday . . . is it Tuesday?" Sievers nodded and the audience laughed.

"The point I want to leave with you is, are we going to continue our economic forces and keep them going? I don't think we can if we follow the attitude of making a quick buck," Trubach said. "A lot of people don't realize a lot of people are interested in making a quick buck."

His ten minutes of speaking time up, Trubach left his audience saying, "Give me liberty or give me Westlake."

House, Senate Snafus Over Civil Right Could Have Serious Affect

WASHINGTON — The time cannot now be far off, when the leaders in both parties and in both Houses of Congress must bring the civil rights controversy to a decision and a conclusion.

The filibuster in the Senate and the snafu in the House are causing a degeneration of the debate. The moderates are being pushed aside by the extremists, rational men by the fanatics.

If this goes on, the consequences may well be tragic. If it turns out that Congress is impotent, is unable to make any substantial and significant move to protect the constitutional rights of the Negroes in the South, we shall see an increasing mass resistance.

SURELY, IT MUST be our intention to deal with the problem of race relations through the political process, through the courts, and by educating public opinion.

Surely, it must be our hope that the problem of race relations will not be turned on to the streets and be trampled by scuffling mobs.

Yet if Congress makes a spectacular demonstration that it is impotent to do anything about the grievances of the Negroes, we shall be lucky if the worst that follows is only passive resistance.

LET US REMEMBER that passive resistance does not work passively everywhere. It worked well in India. But passive resistance is not easily compatible with the violence and the impatience which lie so close to the surface in American life.

In order to bring the matter to a decision, after a serious, not an artificial debate, the Democrats and the Republicans ought to do what Sen. Lyndon Johnson has wanted to do from the beginning. They should agree on a bill which deals solely, but sincerely and effectively, with the right to vote.

To be sure, there are other civil rights besides the right to vote, but there is none so fundamental or so important or so clearly beyond open challenge.

The Northern Senators and Congressmen have, it seems to me, greatly underrated the historic significance of a bill which is designed to bring about the enfranchisement of qualified Negroes. To my thinking the effort to do this seems so significant that I find it hard to believe that it will not take a very long time indeed before a law to enfranchise the Negroes becomes generally effective.

INSTEAD, THEREFORE, of complicating matters by preparing a package containing other civil rights, our main preoccupation should be to get the most effective voting bill that can be passed in the Senate now.

Planners Deny Permission For Building

Two Marin County Planning Commissioners today in effect took issue with the County Board of Supervisors, which by rule reviews its decisions, on the troubled question of the Tiburon parking problem.

With two absentees, the commission tied 2-2 to deny application of Milton McDonough to construct a two-story office building at 21 Main street without providing on-site parking.

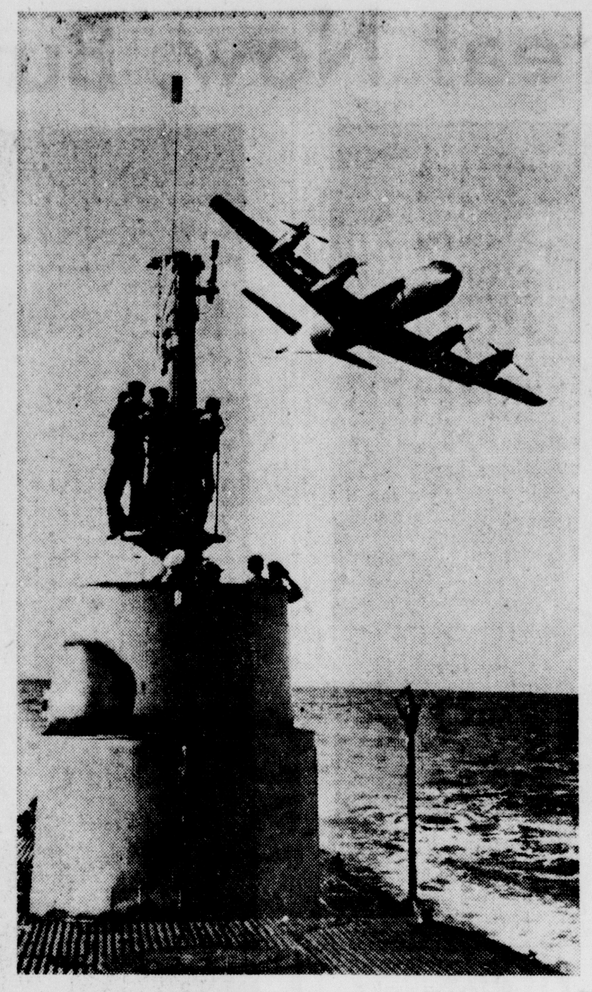

The case was said to be directly comparable to the recent petition of veteran Tiburon baker John Musso, who sought to fill his whole lot with additional construction, providing no off street parking. This was denied by the planning commission, but the supervisors reversed the planners to grant approval.

Recalling the Musso case, Commissioner Margaret Azevedo said:

"I think the board was wrong and the commission was right. If Tiburon's plan for a parking lot were not to go through, I think our position would have to be to refuse expansion. Parking is not available now so I feel we should not act as though it were."

Mrs. Azevedo and George Scott voted to deny McDonough's petition. Commissioners George Ludy and Niels Schultz Jr. voted against denial.

David Van Pelt of the planning staff said that the 2-2 vote, in absence of Chairman William Upton and James Cuzner, was "a denial in fact." The action will come up for review by the board of supervisors at 2 p.m. March 29.

Motherwell's Tries Kill Ex-Wife Told

DOWNIEVILLE (UPI) — Larry Lord Motherwell's first wife testified today that two attempts were made on her life during her marriage to the convicted murderer.

The woman, Dorothy Summers, wept as she also told of the death of their two-month-old baby. She said she thought the child had been strangled by Motherwell.

She was the first witness called by the prosecution at the trial to determine whether the 43-year-old construction worker receives life imprisonment or the gas chamber for the murder of Mrs. Pearl Putney, 72, Washington, D.C., widow.

He was convicted last Tuesday of first degree murder. Under California law the jury must set the penalty at a separate trial.

The first witness gave only her maiden name to the court.

Telling of her seven-year marriage that ended in 1945, she said that in 1945 she was pregnant and Motherwell gave her three pills he said came from a doctor.

The pills put her to sleep, she said, and when she woke up the next day her children had been placed in bed with her and all of the gas jets had been turned on and the windows closed. She said she was conscious but could not move and was saved only when her mother happened to come to the house.

On another occasion, in June or July, 1945, she said Motherwell struck her on the head with an iron bar while the family was in a row boat on a lake.

The boat overturned and all were pitched in the water. Several youths in a nearby boat rescued them, she said.

Broadway musical composer Cole Porter was born in Peru, Ind., in 1892.

Alabama Negroes Win Hearing By Top Court

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court agreed today to review a complaint of a group of Negroes who contended the Alabama Legislature deprived them of their right to vote by changing the boundaries of the town of Tuskegee.

The court also decided to examine a complaint against Chicago's move censorship law, and to review the appeal of a Detroit man convicted of contempt of Congress for refusing to produce records for House Communist investigators.

In an unusually light "decision Monday," the high tribunal also held for a second time that a taxpayer must pay the full amount of an alleged income tax deficiency before he can sue in federal district court for a refund. This 5-4 ruling reaffirmed a decision first handed down in 1958 and re-examined again this term.

The Tuskegee Negroes contended that a 1957 change in the boundaries of the town was designed primarily to keep them from participating in civic affairs by placing their residences outside the city limits.

The action of the Legislature was upheld by the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which held last September that a change in the boundaries was essentially a political matter over which federal courts have no control.

The high court will schedule oral agreements on the case sometime next fall and will follow with a written opinion.

In its other major actions, the court:

Unanimously set aside the disorderly conduct and loitering convictions of Sam Thompson, a Louisville, Ky., Negro, who was precluded from taking his case to higher local courts because of the small size of the two $10 fines he received. A key issue in the case was whether Thompson was—or was not—dancing in a tavern.

Agreed to examine the complaint of the Times Film Corp. that Chicago police illegally barred it from showing the movie, "Don Juan," because the company refused to submit the film for censorship.

Agreed to hear the appeal of Arthur M. McPhaul, a Detroit man who was convicted of contempt for refusing to turn over records of the Civil Right Congress to a House subcommittee on un-American activities in 1956.

Ruled, 8-1, that Scripto, Inc., of Atlanta, Ga., pen manufacturer, must pay a Florida use tax on orders obtained by its commissioned merchants in the state.

Schultz Co. Loses Suit For $50,000

Construction of the interchange at Greenbrae did not cause any damage to the Schultz Investment Co. from prohibition of access or impairment of view, a Marin Superior Court jury decided last week.

The state paid for the land taken from the Schultz Co. after a trial last year. However, the Schultz Co. asked for severance damages of $50,000 on grounds that access and view for the rest of its land had been impaired.

This case was tried before Judge Jordan L. Martinelli and wound up last week after nine days of trial. The jurors decided the Schultz Company is not entitled to any severance damage.

Zoning Plea In Bolinas Meets Delay

Uncertainties due to lack of a Bolinas master plan caused uncertainty in the Marin County Planning Commission today and brought about continuation to April 4 of L. G. Pepper and Sons' effort to obtain permit for construction and addition on a residential property.

The Peppers wanted a change in zoning from residential-agricultural to commercial so that an addition to a two-story building used as a contractor's office might be used for retail sales of building supplies.

Not only did the planning staff find no reason to extend Bolinas commercial zoning limits, but expressed belief that "the commercial area presently established and located best represents the needs of Bolinas."

Pointing out that the commission staff's master plan studies for the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area aren't yet completed, the report went on:

"Preliminary review of the work done to date supports the staff position that this property will not be included in any extension of commercial zoning in Bolinas."

The report recommended denial of the Pepper application on the ground that commerical extension into residential area would be to the detriment of Bolinas. But the commission decided to wait two weeks and obtain further views and information.

Road Problem Up Before Tam Board

Location of a new access road to Redwood High School will be discussed again by the Tamalpais Union High School District board when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the district office at Redwood.

Heather Gardens residents are expected to renew their demands for construction of another road to take a heavy burden of school traffic off Larkspur's narrow William avenue.

Tryouts For Novato Show Set Tonight

Tryouts for the Novato Community Club Variety Show, May 6 and 7, will be held tonight in the clubhouse at 8 o'clock.

The title of the show will be "Spring Tonic." Any act that can be applied to the hillbilly theme of the show is welcome, said Mrs. Enestine Barnwell, show chairman.

Ah, Sweet Memories

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — A bill was found here recently which listed the cost of making home repairs.

The carpenter got 25 cents an hour. Four pounds of nails, eight feet of pine board and 21 hours of work totaled $45.80.

The bill was sent in 1886.

Santa Venetia Housewife, Son Missing

A Santa Venetia housewife drove off in the family car with her 3-year-old son last Tuesday and is still missing, the husband reported to the sheriff yesterday.

Gerald Eugene Schrack of 40 Venetia Meadows, Santa Venetia, said his wife may be headed for Buena Park or Honolulu.

Missing are Mrs. Marilyn Joyce Schrack, 32, and her son, Mike Eugene Schrack, 3. She is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs about 145 pounds, has dark brown hair and blue eyes.

Deputy Sheriff Leo Ballard said she left a note indicating she wanted to get away for awhile.

Schrack told officers he went to work about 7:30 a.m. Tuesday. When he got back, his wife and son were gone. Schrack said his wife appeared quite normal and happy, and they had not quarreled.

Office Looted Of Equipment

Thieves broke into the George E. Nolte Co. engineering office across from Terra Linda for the second time in about a month and stole $1,500 worth of equipment, San Rafael police reported today.

Officer Gerald Souza noticed the glass broken on the front door about 3:30 a.m. and discovered the break-in. Missing are a calculator worth $1,000 and an electric typewriter valued at $500. Another calculator and other typewriters were not disturbed.

Ten sculptured heads, one-and-a-half feet high, are on the facade of the new Cornell University library. Eight of the heads are unidentified and some people say they are former Cornell professors. Others contend the stone masons sculptured their own heads as a practical joke.

Boy Confesses School Break-In

A 15-year-old boy from Point Reyes Station admitted yesterday he broke into West Marin School a week ago, Sheriff's Deputies Kenneth Irving and William S. Christensen reported today.

The boy confessed after officers found about $30 hidden under his home. On March 14, school officials reported that a window had been broken and about $40 or $50 in cash was missing.

Ohio State Great Now, But Wait Until Next Season!

Four NCAA Champs Who Routed Bears To Return

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ohio State's Buckeyes—young, talented and confident—are the 1960 collegiate basketball champions.

The underdog Ohioans, playing before a loudly partisan California crowd, upset Cal's defending champions 75-55 Saturday night in the finals of this year's NCAA tournament.

The Buckeyes provided an awesome display of shooting accuracy backboard strength and defensive stamina.

Joe Roberts' driving layup after one minute of play put the Buckeyes in front 2-0 and in front they stayed. The Ohioans led 37-19 at halftime and stretched their margin to as much as 22 points at times over a California team that led the nation in defense.

Cal's Golden Bears fought until the final buzzer, but they were not in Ohio's class. It appeared that the Bears had given their best effort the previous night in knocking off Cincinnati in a semi-final that matched the two top teams in The Associated Press national poll.

Ohio State, rated third in the poll, Saturday night looked like the finest team in collegiate circles since the two-time national championship club of the University of San Francisco, a team that ran off 60 straight victories.

But most startling about the new champions is their youth and poise.

Four of the starting five will be back next year. Roberts is the only senior on the first five.

Returning are All-America Jerry Lucas, voted most valuable player here as a sophomore, two other sophs who also received MVP votes, Mel Nowell and John Havlicek, and junior Larry Siegfried, the Buckeyes' top scorer a year ago—before Lucas came along.

CINCY THIRD

Cincinnati, with All-America Oscar Robertson scoring 32, trampled New York University 95-71 for third place. Big Tom Sanders led NYU with 25.

Robertson, Sanders, Ohio's Lucas and Nowell and California's All-America Darrall Imhoff were named to the San Francisco tournament all-star team. Lucas was the only unanimous selection and every one of his starting teammates received votes.

The Cow Palace, packed with 14,500 spectators, was loaded with California rooters. They gave Cal Coach Pete Newell the biggest hand of the night, a standing ovation, when he was introduced before the final game. Newell, coach of the year, is retiring from coaching to take over as California athletic director.

The Bears, as Newell put it, played their hearts out. "We didn't lose for lack of trying," he said. "Ohio State had the hot hand on a big night. But I'm proud of my club. This is the best team I've ever coached." The Bears, who won 28 of 30 games this year, had won 19 in a row before meeting Ohio State.

TORRID SHOOTING

"Hot hand" was hardly an overstatement. The Buckeyes sank their first three shots, went on to an amazing 16 for 19 from the field in the first half and finished with 33 of 46 for 68.4 per cent—the soldiest shooting ever seen in the West and perhaps anywhere.

Imhoff was held to 8 points by Lucas, a youngster who has everything—shots, moves and all-around grace and savvy.

Lucas led the scoring with 16 points—7 of 9 from the floor, 2 for 2 from the free throw line.

He was polite when asked about Imhoff but didn't hesitate when asked who was the best center he's faced.

"Walt Bellamy of Indiana—without a doubt," said Lucas.

Havlicek, who played with 10 stitches in two of his fingers and an infected right foot, also said Indiana was the best club Ohio State played this year. Indiana finished second, behind OSU, in the Big Ten.

Nowell, aware of Ohio State being ranked behind Cincinnati and California, trumpeted the Ohioans' feelings with:

"Now you've seen what a rookie bunch of Buckeyes will do for you."

Only too aware were the coaches who watched the methodical demolition of Cal's defending champs.

"My gosh," said Coach George Hunter of Army. "They're all sophomores. We have to play Ohio State next year and this is a club that'll be in the finals here for another two years."

Boom-Boom Kirkland, Giants Wow Crowd With HR Show

PHOENIX—"Boom Boom" is back.

When Willie Charles Kirkland was playing for St. Cloud, Minn., in the Northern League in 1954, he once hit four home runs in four days. The fans started calling him "Boom Boom."

It has been just plain Willie for the muscular left-handed hitting Kirkland since he has been with the San Francisco Giants, but yesterday the old nickname came back to life.

Kirkland belted three consecutive homers to knock in five runs in a perfect day at the plate as the Giants massacred the Cleveland Indians 20-5 in an exhibition game at San Diego.

He also hit one Saturday at San Diego as San Francisco beat Cleveland 9-6.

The Giants took the American leaguers apart with a 21-hit onslaught that also included towering homers by Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda.

But it was "Boom Boom" Kirkland day all the way. The crowd of 8,026 booed lustily when Cleveland pitcher Johnny Briggs walked Kirkland on five pitches in the fifth inning, after Boom Boom banged 'em out of sight on his first three appearances.

DAY OF REST

The Giants enjoyed a day off today and return to Cactus League action tomorrow against the Chicago Cubs.

They earned their rest with a display of batting pyrotechnics that had the San Diego crowd roaring for more. Boom Boom's belting was the niftiest exhibition seen there since Ted Williams was thumping 'em for the Padres.

Kirkland is now socking an even .500 afted 24 times at bat in exhibition games. The only Giant doing better is Jimmy Davenport, who has six hits in nine trips for .667.

Don Blasingame, San Francisco's new leadoff man, caught the hitting fever. He collected his first hit as a Giant after 19 trips without a safety.

San Francisco's pitching wasn't exactly flawless. Jack Sanford got the victory, although he gave up six hits and four runs in four innings. Stu Miller went three innings, allowing four hits and two runs. Eddie Fisher and George Zuverink went an inning apiece, and put the Indians down in order.

Big O Happy College Cage Career Over

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson, the top collegiate scorer ever, ended his Bearcat career Saturday night in the shadows of a great Ohio State team.

Tme Big O, everybody's All-America, collected 32 points as Cincinnati trounced New York University 95-71 for third place in the NCAA tournament, while Ohio State was beating California for the crown 75-55.

Robertson was named to the tournament's all-star team but the most valuable player honors went to Ohio State's Jerry Lucas, a brilliant young sophomore.

In 88 Cincinnati games, Robertson, a 6-5 ballhandling and shooting wizard from Indianapolis, chalked up career records of 2,941 points, an average per game of 33.8, and 1,052 field goals.

The Bearcats lost only 9 of those 88 games, probably the most hearbreaking coming in the NCAA semi-finals last year and then again Friday night when Cincinnati lost to California, each time by eight points.

"It's been great in college," said Robertson, "but I'm glad it's over.

"It's like you've been in the house all week and you're finally getting to go out for the weekend."

NCAA Announces Team For Olympic Trials

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The nation's top collegiate basketball stars — including all five Associate Press All-America players—were named today to complete in the U. S. Olympic Basketball trials at Denver March 31-April 2.

Three of the teams in the eight-team Denver tournament will be Ohio State's Buckeyes, winners of the 1960 NCAA tournament here Saturday night, and two all-star teams.

Heading the list of individual stars are the AP's All-America five—Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, Jerry Lucas of Ohio State, Jerry West of West Virginia, Darrall Imhoff of California and Tony Jackson of St. John's of Brooklyn.

Four of the AP's second-team All-America selections were named: Tom Smith of St. Bonaventure, Terry Dischinger of Purdue, Roger Kaiser of Georgia Tech and Chet Walker of Bradley.

The winner of the eight-team tournament will be assured at least five and possibly seven spots on the team that will represent the U. S. in the Olympic games at Rome next August.

Here are the teams that will take part in the trials:

Team 1—Ohio State, 75-55 winner over defending champ California in the NCAA final here Saturday night. Coached by Fred Taylor.

Team 2—Robertson, Cincinnati, the nation's top collegiate scorer; Imhoff, California; West, West Virginia; Jackson, St. John's; Stith, St. Bonaventure; Dischinger, Purdue; Kaiser, Georgia Tech; Jim Darrow, Bowling Green; Tom Sanders, New York University; Ron Johnson, Minnesota; Walt Bellamy, Indiana, and a 12th player still to be selected. This team will be coached by Pete Newell of California, the NCAA runner-up. Should Newell be unavailable, the team will be coached by George Smith of Cincinnati or by Lou Rossini of NYU.

Team 3—Coached by Arad McCutchen of Evansville's NCAA college division champs; Ed Smallwood and Dale Wise, Evansville; Gary Auten, Kentucky Wesleyan; Willie Jones, American University, Washington, D.C.; Mel Peterson, Wheaton; Wayne Hightower, Kansas; Charley Henke, Missouri; Herschell Turner, Nebraska; Chet Walker, Bradley; Mike Graney, Notre Dame; Horace Walker, Michigan State, and Gary Phillips, Houston.

Ward Captures Marin Singles Bowling Title

Sharp-shooting Spencer Ward of Kentfield is the singles champion and Frank Smaw Sr. and Laurie Miglori of San Rafael are the doubles champions of the Marin Bowling Assn's 12th annual city tournament which concluded last night.

Ward, who carries a 179 average, blasted a 669 three-game scratch series and with handicap totalled 711, beating out Bob Howerton by one pin. Forest Henry's 707 won third place in the unofficial figures released by Association Secretary Clay Anderson.

Smaw and Miglori posted a 1339 total while Red Beckstrom and Wally Mays placed second in the doubles with 1324. Third place honors went to Reese Price and Bob Tomczak with 1308.

Singles and doubles were rolled at Greenbrae Lanes over the last two weekends.

Meanwhile, the team championship went to Marin Joe's Restaurant with a 3114 total in the team competition at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael. Members of the championship quintet are Frenchy Addenin, Joe Cordoza, Bill Hoffman, Val Valsecchi and Walt Carter.

Second place honors went to Rose Bowl Chateau with a 3096 total, followed by Wiltshire Towers, 3073, and Langhill Trophies, 3069.

Official figures will be announced by Anderson after all scores are checked.

Two More Champs To Be Crowned In S.A. This Week

One champion has been crowned and two more will probably clinch championships this week in the San Anselmo Recreation Department's three basketball leagues.

First Presbyterian easily won the Church League and Sprouse Reitz and San Anselmo Lions will capture the 5th-6th and 7th-8th grade divisions, respectively if they are not upset this week.

The powerful Presbyterians posted an 8-1 record to nab the Church League title. Their only loss came as the result of a forfeit to First Baptist. In last Tuesday's concluding games, the Presbyterians massacred Church of the Nazarene, 52-28, and St. Anselm's nipped First Baptist 44-38, in an overtime thriller.

In tonight's 5th-6th grade doubleheader, Photo Shop meets Redhill Nursery in the opener and La Ville Food tangles with Sprouse Reitz in the nightcap.

Wednesday's twin-bill in the 7th-8th grade division features San Anselmo Police against San Anselmo Lions in the first game and Jack's Drugs against Schaeffer's Ice Cream in the second contest.,

All first games start at 7 p.m. at the Sir Francis Drake High gym.

A BRUSH WITH DISASTER

Dodgers Manage To Joke As Plane Engine Fails

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—"I started looking for a flat place to land and all I saw was swamps and lakes," said Manager Walt Alston.

That what the other 41 Los Angeles Dodgers saw, too, when they glanced out of their private plane after one of its engines conked out yesterday on a 90-mile flight from Vero Beach to Orlando.

The twin-engine Convair turned around and limped back 25 miles to Vero Beach and landed safely.

The plane was full of wise-cracking ballplayers a moment before the starboard engine quit. Then—deathly silence.

Alston broke the tension when he announced with a poker face:

"Sorry I loused it up, fellows."

Chunky Don Zimmer, the holler guy shortstop, solemnly told the nervous group:

"Well, the Dodgers are snafued now. They went and put all three shortstops on one plane."

When the plane touched down 10 minutes later, the entire group broke into applause.

Don Drysdale, who dislikes air travel, had the last word. He said:

"There won't be much delay. They only have to change one sparkplug and 42 sweatshirts."

HUGE STURGEON CAUGHT BY MARIN ANGLER

It was a tough fight, but Ray Lamerdin of Corte Madera Hardware finally bagged a prize sturgeon while fishing off Hamilton Field Flats last Friday.

Lamerdin's catch weighed 100 pounds and measured 6 feet 9 inches in length. The monster put up an 80-minute battle after Lamerdin hooked it on his 36-pound test line. The fight ruined his reel, he said.

Fishing with him were Claude Maehler and Roy Huges. The action took place about 300 yards off the Pumphouse at Hamliton Flats.

Bayer Leader In St. Pete Tourney; Finals On Today

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—George Mayer was trying not to think about last year as he teed off today for the third round of the St. Petersburg Open Golf tournament.

In the same tournament in 1959 the huge ex-football player from Gleneagles, Ill., shot 66-69—135 for his first two rounds, and was leading the field at that point. Then he soared to a big 77, and although he came back with a 70 for his final round he finished seven strokes back of Cary Middlecoff, the winner with 275.

In the current tournament Bayer also has 66-69—135 for his first two rounds, and a four-stroke lead, so he might be expected to start his third round with some apprehension.

The final two rounds will be played today.

In second place today with 139 was Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La.

Jack Fleck of Los Angeles, Doug Ford of Crystal River, Fla., and Lee Raymond of Toledo, Ohio. were next in line with 141's.

Big Five Meets Today On Rose Bowl Foe Selection

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Athletic Association of Western Universities (Big Five) meets today to decide the means of selecting a foe for its teams in the annual New Year's Day football game at the Rose Bowl.

Earlier this month, the Big Ten officially pulled out of the Pasadena tie-up which had been in force since January of 1947.

"The Rose Bowl is a wonderful event and will continue to be so," Big Five Executive Director Tom Hamilton said. "I'm sure our group will reach a satisfactory decision."

The Big Five, which supplants the now-defunct Pacific Coast Conference—consists of Southern California, UCLA, California, Stanford and Washington. The group now contracts with the Tournament of Roses Committee for sending one of its squads to the Rose Bowl.

With the Big Ten definitely out of the New Year's fixture, there has been speculation that invitations might once more go to strong teams in the south, east and southwest. That was the case before the Big Ten and old PCC made their agreement in 1946.

Giant shortstop Eddie Bressoud is caught off first by Cleveland's Vic Power in exhibition game at San Diego. Bressoud was caught on an automatic out when he did not retouch first base. Williams Takes A Look At McCovey, But Giant Star Proves A Big Flop

HANLEY

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Ted Williams watched Willie McCovey swing the other day in Scottsdale when the Giants and Red Sox met in a Cactus League exhibition.

We were talking with No. 9 in the Sox club house when the Giants started pre-game batting practice. He said he had never seen McCovey in action.

"Let's get out there and take a look at him," said Williams. I'd like to see his swing."

We sat in the Sox dugout with Williams, identifying Giants he didn't know as they came to bat. He thought Don Blasingame looked a bit like Stu Miller from a distance. Willie Kirkland's batting stance reminded him of "someone else who hit like that but I can't think of his name right now."

When McCovey came into the bating cage for the first time, Andre Rogers, waiting his turn, blocked Williams' view. By the time we got Rogers to move to one side, McCovey's turn was over. The second time he came up, Bill Rigney was hitting infield grounders to Jimmy Davenport and Eddie Bressoud—and Rigney was in the way.

INSTEAD of getting up a second time and walking over to the Giant manager, as we had in the case of Rogers, we shouted to Rigney: "Hey, Bill—would you move to one side. We can't see McCovey."

Rigney couldn't hear us and by the time we explained the situation after another little walk, McCovey's second turn in the cage was over. His third time up had no obstructions and Williams observed:

"He certainly is a powerful man."

THAT WAS all he said after McvCovey popped up three of five practice hits in his third cage appearance. McCovey didn't tag one ball in the authoritative manner he can smash it. His subsequent trips to the cage similarly were unproductive. Even after we had been telling Williams that McCovey had an exceptional eye for the strike zone, McCovey swung at a bad pitch.

On the basis of what he saw, Williams could not have been blamed if he had said querulously: "This is the man you would like me to say may become great?" Instead, Williams actually said: "He looks like me now—jumping at it at times."

That was all the 20-year-player in the American League said. We fully appreciated even this comment was a generous one for what McCovey did—or failed to do—the first time one of the great hitters of all time saw him.

Later we asked McCovey what in the world he was trying to do in the batting cage and why he didn't stroke the ball in the manner of a liner he hit between first and second a few days ago in Phoenix.

"YES, I remember that one when Bressoud was on first base and had to dodge out of the way," said McCovey. "That was tagged alright but I didn't get it up in the air. I've been trying to get the ball up."

A fine time for McCovey to do a little experimenting in the batting cage! At least, it explained why McCovey was hitting under the ball and not meeting a squarely—the only way he should ever try to hit. Monkeying around with a smooth, natural swing can be a dangerous thing.

Lane, Red Sox Feud Over White Trade

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Foxy Frank Lane's at it again with his volatile temper reacting immediately to the hassle that has broken out over the Sammy White trade and threatens to shake the Indian chief's reputation as baseball's master manipulator.

Lane, a clever appraiser of player talent, already has taken a verbal scalding forthe offseason deals that deprived Cleveland of 19-game winner Cal McLish and .300-hitter Minnie Minoso.

Now Lane may find himself checkmated over his latest transaction in an attempt to trade Cleveland into a pennant with Commissioner Ford Frick a likely candidate to settle the stalemate.

Lane swapped catcher Russ Nixon and utility man Jim Marshall for White, an outstanding receiver with the Boston Red Sox.

White, however, pulled Lane up short. He retired.

"The deal's off," said Lane assuredly yesterday.

"Lane hasn't got a foot to stand on," countered Red Sox General Manager Bucky Harris, emphasizing that he considers the trade closed.

"I'm returning Marshall and want Nixon back," Lane said.

MINNIE STARS

That's not all Lane may want back. The way Minoso's changing Chicago's hitless wonders, Lane probably is having second thoughts about the trade that sent the Cuban to the American League champion White Sox.

Minoso, a .302 hitter last season at Cleveland, stroked a double and four singles yesterday as the Sox blasted 21 hits and won their seventh exhibition in eight games with a 12-2 thumping of Baltimore.

Lane's Indians were walloped 20-5 by the San Francisco Giants, who rapped 21 hits including three homers by Willie Kirkland to bring their record to 6-2, best among National League clubs.

In other games, New York belted Cincinnati 13-5, Detroit beat Milwaukee 9-7, St. Louis edged Philadelphia 4-3, Los Angeles defeated Washington 7-5 Pittsburgh topped Kansas City 6-3, and Chicago's Cubs nipped Boston 3-2.

YANKS EXPLODE

The Yankees, held to 11 runs in seven games, broke out with 17 hits against the Reds. Yogi Berra homered and drove in four runs.

The Tigers and Braves jammed 16 runs into the first three innings, then couldn't manage a hit after the fourth. Doubles by Al Kaline, who also had a three-run homer, and Steve Bilko produced the deciding tally.

Wally Shannon's pop single in the seventh drove in the winning run for the Cards.

The World Champion Dodgers scored three in the ninth — the key blows a sacrifice fly by Don Zimmer and Charlie Neal's single—to pull out their victory against the Senators.

Rookie Manuel Javier's bases-loaded triple in the eighth sparked a Pirate four-run uprising that beat the A's. George Altman's pinch homer in the seventh gave the Cubs their triumph over the Red Sox.

NATIONAL INVITATION

Looks Like Bradley Won't Return In '61

NEW YORK (AP)—Chances are the Bradley Braves, the name team of the National Invitation Basketball tournament for four years, won't be back next year to defend their championship.

The reason? They'll probably be too good!

The NIT has had the pleasure of Bradley's company since 1957 because, despte the Braves' outstanding teams, they weren't quite tough enough to win outright the Missouri Valley Conference title.

The Braves came here to win their first NIT championship in 1957 when St. Louis filled the Mo Valley's commitment in the NCAA tournament. The last three years the Braves were available because a fellow named Oscar Robertson made Cincinnati unstoppable in the Mo Valley race.

But now Oscar is through at Cincinnati and with such aces as sophomore Chet "Orange Juice" Walker and Mack Herndon, and junior Al Saunders returning, it seems unlikely Coach Chuck Orsborn can help having a conference winner.

Only backcourt aces Mike Owens and Dan Smith are lost from the 1959-60 Bradley team that won its second NIT title in four years Saturday afternoon with a whirlwind rally that crushed Providence, 88-72. And what with the likes of Herndon, Walker, and Saunders plus soph like Ed Wodka, Mickey Tieman, and Lee Edwards showed the Madison Square Garden crowds left everyone wagging about the Bradley of next year.

Denver Hockey Champs

BOSTON (AP)—Denver University won the NCAA hockey title for the second time in three years with a 5-3 victory over Michigan Tech Saturday.

Records Fall As Drake Mermen Beat Washington

Peter Sagues and John Hendry each smashed a school record Friday as they paced the Drake High varsity swimming team to a 51-35 victory over George Washington High at Drake's pool.

Sagues won the 200-yard freestyle in 2 minutes, 3.5 seconds, two-tenths of a second under the former record held by Mike Zeller since 1958. Hendry was clocked at 1:11.3 in the 100 breaststroke, beating his own year-old record of 1:12.8.

In Class B Drake's 100-yard relay team of Bill Kelsey, Ray Robinson, Jim Zell and John Gaylord set a pool and school record in the time of 1:49.7, but the Drake team lost a 43-34.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics were just one game away from the Eastern playoff title of the National Basketball Assn. today, but the battle for the Western division crown was all tied up between Minneapolis and St. Louis.

The Celts, defending world champions, crushed the Philadelphia Warriors in Philadelphia yesterday, 112-104, to run their margin in the best-of-7 Eastern playoffs to 3-1.

In Minneapolis, the Lakers came from behind to defeat the St. Louis Howks, 103-101, to even the Western division series at 2-2. All the teams are off tonight, but tomorrow the Eastern series resumes at Boston and the Western playoffs move to St. Louis.

100 Attend Dedication Of Bel Aire School

A crowd of more than 100 heard Dr. Wallace W. Hall, associate state superintendent of public instruction, tell them that "You are dedicating yourselves to the progress of continued free public education which this building epitomizes," at yesterday's dedication of Bel Aire School.

The event also celebrated 10 years of unionization of the Reed School District.

In his dedicatory remarks, Hall noted the district has grown 875 per cent in the last 10 years. Statewide enrollment has grown 100 per cent in the same period, he said.

In recalling the problems and activities of the school board since 1950, Hall mentioned district growth from 137 pupils to the present 1,200 daily attendance at the four schools in the district. Hall was chairman of the first board of trustees.

Participating in the ceremonies were the five members of the school board and more than 40 honored guests. Among them was Supt. Paul R. Stouffer, who has been hospitalized for a month with a heart ailment.

Meeting Set On Housing

"The Public Housing is Ready—Are You?" is the subject for discussion at a town meeting sponsored by the Marin City Tenants Council today at 8 p.m. in the Marin City lounge.

The meeting is one of a series to help Marin City residents solve problems in making the transition between the present housing and the new low-rent public housing which is to be opened soon.

Guy Ciocca, attorney for the Marin County Housing Authority, will answer questions on the tenants' leases. He will explain the basic contents as it relates to utilities, rent payment, general care of property and parking.

Rev. Samuel Banks, pastor of the Marin City Village Chapel, will answer questions on tenant responsibility. A discussion of the mechanics of moving, with a question period, will be given by Bert Klahn, executive director of the authority.

Frank Phillips, tenants council president, will moderate.

Deputy Hurt In Scuffle

Deputy Sheriff William McKillop suffered a slight finger injury today while grappling with a Marin City plumber, suspected of hitting a woman.

McKillop and Deputy Herrick Morgan managed to handcuff Richard Thomas, 37, of A-32, Apartment 173, shortly after midnight and book him on suspicion of disturbing the peace, assault and battery and resisting arrest. Thomas, bailed out for $840, was scheduled to appear in court this afternoon.

Lou Emma Price, who lives at A-32, Apartment 173, ran for help to the Marin City substation about midnight. She complained that Thomas had knocked her down. When officers arrived, Thomas left the apartment and struggled with the deputies.

Pinned In Car For 13 Hours, Woman Lives

COTTAGE GROVE, Ore. (UPI)—Mrs. Loyal Burns, 31-year-old mother of six, was in good condition today after an ordeal which saw her trapped in a water-filled car for 13 hours with about eight inches of breathing space.

The accident occurred about 15 miles south of here, near Drain.

Policeman George Scheer said Mrs. Burns had gone to Drain from her home in Yoncalla about five miles away. It was foggy and her car rolled down an embankment into muddy Elk Creek while she was returning home at night, the officer said.

The car turned upside down. Scheer said Mrs. Burns clung to safety belt rings and managed to keep her head above water. He placed the time of the accident about 8:30 p.m. last Thursday.

After her husband reported her missing, a search began and Scheer located the car the next morning. To his amazement the woman was alive.

The officer said Mrs. Burns had no recollection of how the accident occurred.

She was suffering from shock and multiple lacerations and bruises. Attendants said she should be released from the hospital soon.

Her husband said his wife was conscious throughout the ordeal. "I don't see how anybody could survive," he said. "She believes God had a lot to do with it."

Telling Squirrel's Age

BLACKSBURG, Va. (UPI)—Wildlife experts at Virginia Tech tell hunters to judge the age of a squirrel by looking at the flattened underside of its tail.

Bone showing one-third of the way up the tail means the squirrel is less than six months old and much more tender for stewing. The adult squirrel has a bushier tail.

'DRUID' PLANS MARCH ON BEHALF OF CHESSMAN

LONDON (AP)—A 72-year-old British Druid said today he plans to march to San Quentin Prison in the white robes of his ancient cult to plead for the life of Caryl Chessman.

White-haired James Christian Duncan said he has written to Gov. Edmund G. Brown asking him to "accept me as the oldest member of the Druid order."

"Druids have always stood for peace and the preservation of life," said Duncan

The Druids in ancient times practiced human sacrifice at some of their rites.

Druidism is a largely extinct cult now.

Anti-Segregation Protests Continue

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The eighth week of Negro anti-segregation demonstrations began in the South today with no sign of an immediate solution.

Authorities appeared more than ever determined to maintain law and order. Negroes—especially the younger ones—showed growing impatience with the slowness of court action in furthering equality.

Boycotting of stores operating segregated lunch counters was proposed by Negro groups in Savannah, Ga., and Lynchburg, Va.

At Durham, N.C., Rev. Douglas E. Moore announced lunch counter protest leaders will meet in Raleigh April 15-17.

In Florida, Gov. LeRoy Collins said he thought it was "unfair and morally wrong" for a department store owner not to allow Negroes to patronize one part of the store while being permitted to trade in other sections.

The governor delivered a statewide radio and television address yesterday to try to calm racial tensions stemming from sitdowns in several Florida cities.

Collins conceded the department store owner has a legal right to single out one department "and say he does not want or will not allow Negroes to patronize that one department. But I still don't think he can square that right with moral, simple justice."

At Charlotte, N.C., Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said he believed people taking part in sitdown demonstrations cannot rightfully be convicted of trespassing. He conceded it is uncertain whether a store owner can be required by law to serve Negroes as well as white persons.

Later, while addressing 3,500 persons at a Charlotte NAACP membership meeting, Marshall said that when Negro and white children go to school together, live in the same neighborhoods and get to know each other, then they will be able to sit at the same lunch counters.

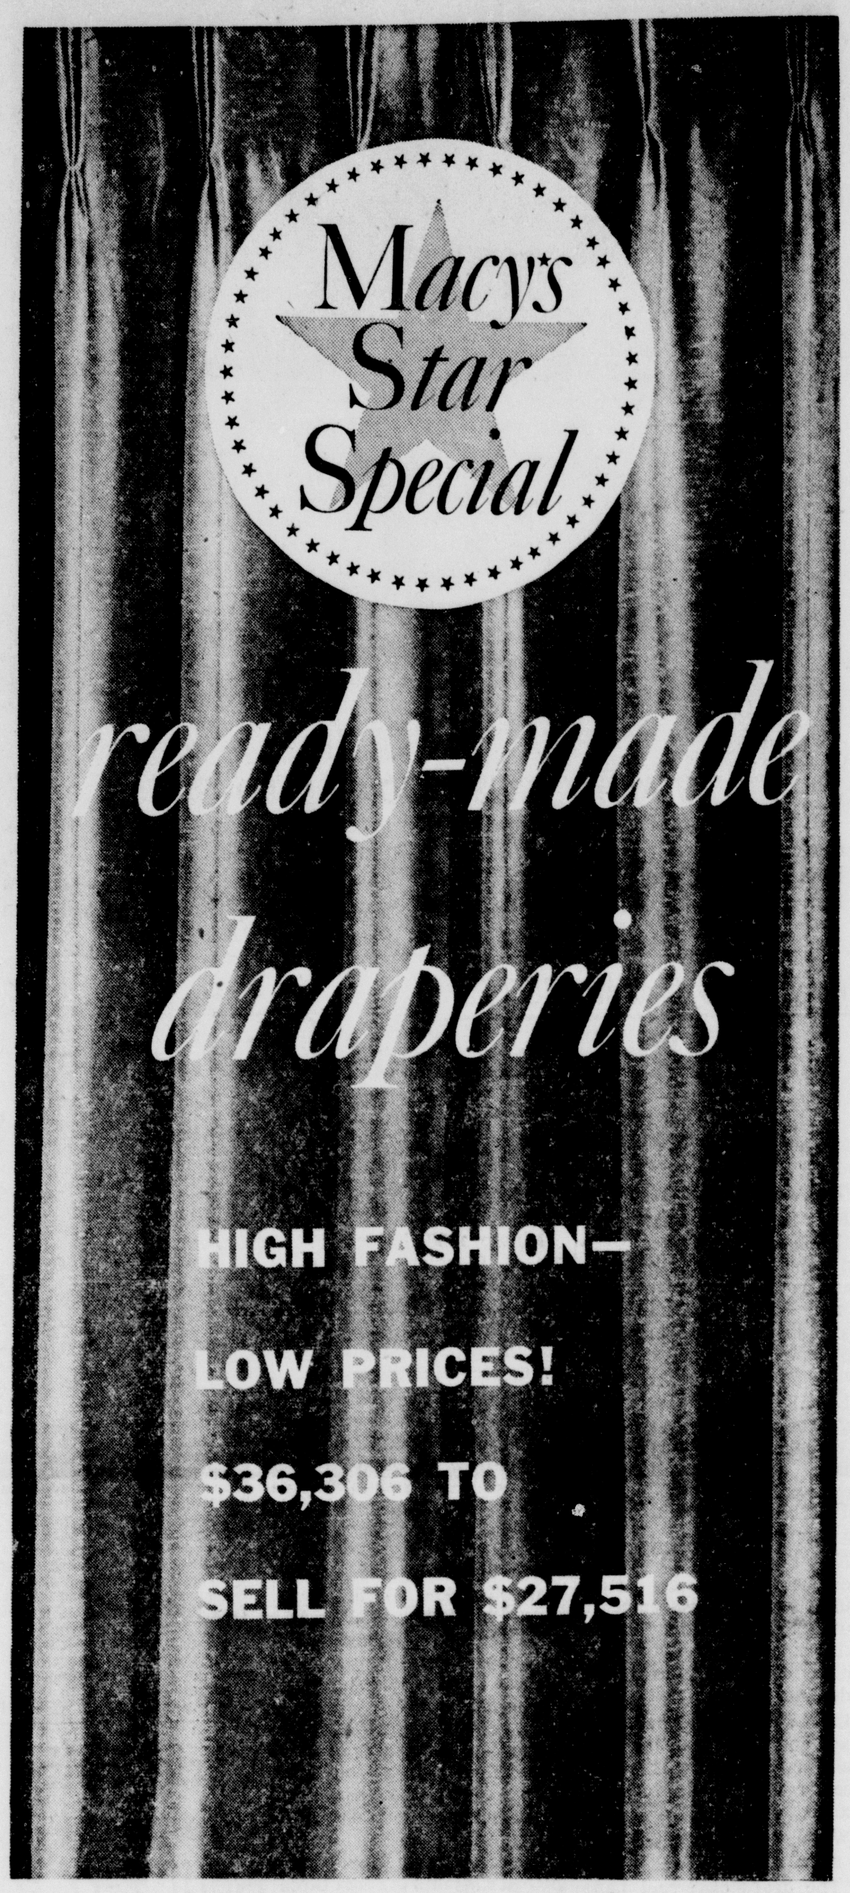

Asked why sitdowns have spread so rapidly, Marshall said he believed Negro young people are impatient with the slowness of court action.

Ruby Hurley of Atlanta, southeastern secretary of the NAACP, told a membership rally in Charleston, S.C., the sitdowns are part of a youth leadership movement among Negro young people.

"These young people knew what they were doing," she said. "They wanted to get locked up for freedom."

30,000 Visitors Flock To Marin's Sports, Boat Show

Annual Outdoor Event Hailed As Big Success

Between 25,000 and 30,000 persons crowded around the exhibits at the seventh annual Sports and Boat Show sponsored by the Marin Rod and Gun Club at the Bermuda Palms over the weekend.

"It was a very successful show," Paul Ware, secretary, said today. He said boat dealers were very satisfied with the response to exhibits ranging from small rowboats to powerful inboard cruisers.

The weekend's show was highlighted by two championship archery tourneys held Saturday and yesterday.

Boys' winner in the Marin Junior Archery tourney held Saturday was Alex Heinz, 15, of San Francisco. The girls' winner was Sherry Tuttle, 15, of San Rafael, member of Marin Junior Archers.

Sidney Smith, 7, of Ross was the youngest winner in the junior tourney.

Lee Perrott, shooting a 488, took the man's first place in the Marin open archery championship yesterday. He is a member of the San Francisco Archers. Dorothy Eastman scoring a 473 and a member of the Solano Archers won the woman's first place.

A spectacular water ballet in the large Bermuda Palms by eight girls from the Ann Curtis Cuneo swim school was given both days.

One of he biggest drawing cards at the show, Ware said, was a 2,000-pound bear shot by club member Joseph Viano of Richmond last year.

Charles M. Smithline, president of the National Skin Diving Institute and a veteran underwater explorer, coach, construction and salvage expert, demonstrated his diving techniques.

The latest in rods, reels, lines and lures were on display for the anglers and everything in firearms was on display for the hunter.

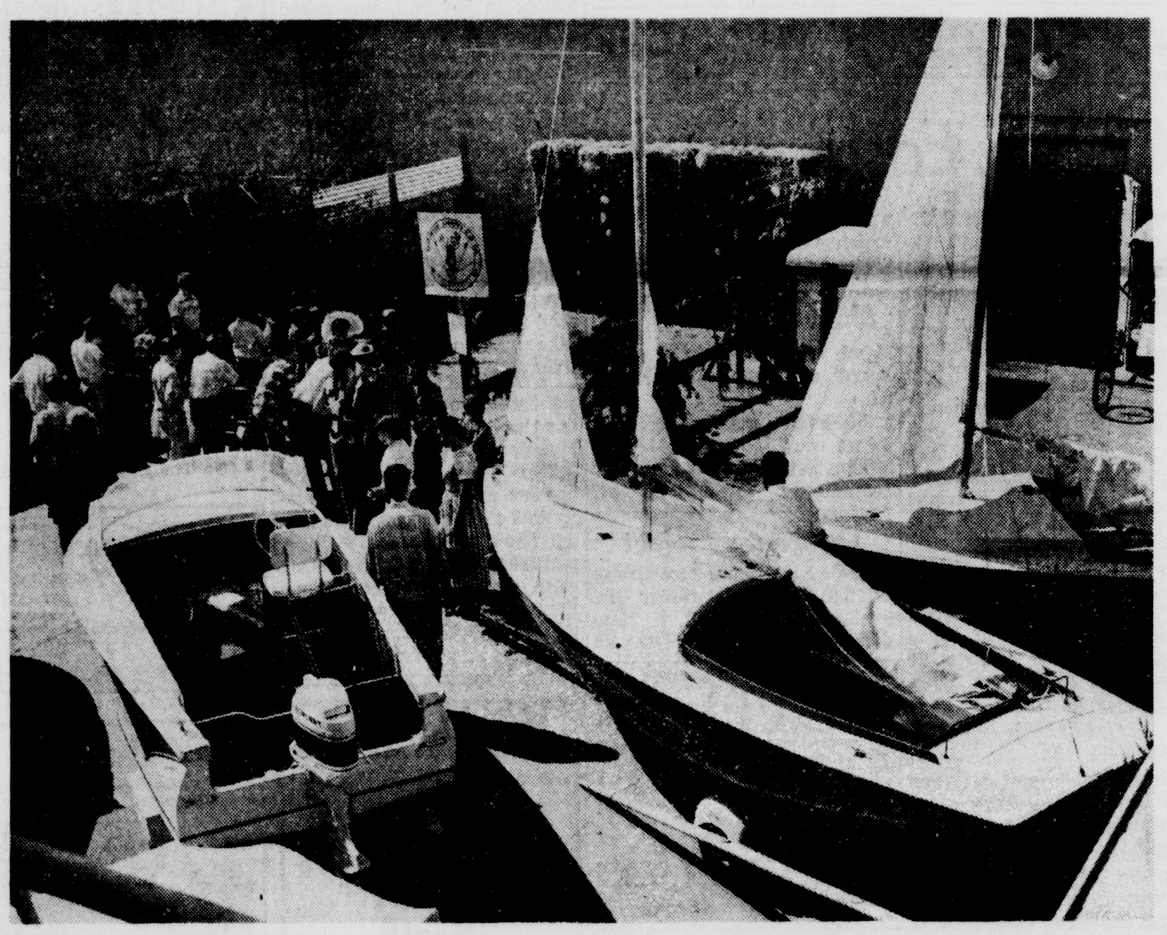

Co-chairman for the event were Barney DeBisschop and John (Monty) Marzetta. DeBisschop originated the Idea for the show seven years ago and has worked with Marzetta to make it grow every year.

Lucky show visitors who took home prizes atfer the drawing were: Charles McDermond of Mill Valley winning a boat, motor and trailer; Edward Barnes of Daly City, a dinghy and motor; Ivan Johnson of Novato, 10 horsepower motor; Gene H. Roerig of Mill Valley, complete camp outfit; Norma Rawlings of Woodside, an outboard motor; Robert Myers of San Rafael, a Gale motor; Ervin Hille of San Rafael, Winchester rifle; O. J. Jacobsen of San Rafael, a portable TV set; Mike Abramson of Tiburon, a barbecue set and Forrest Leonard of San Anselmo, luggage.

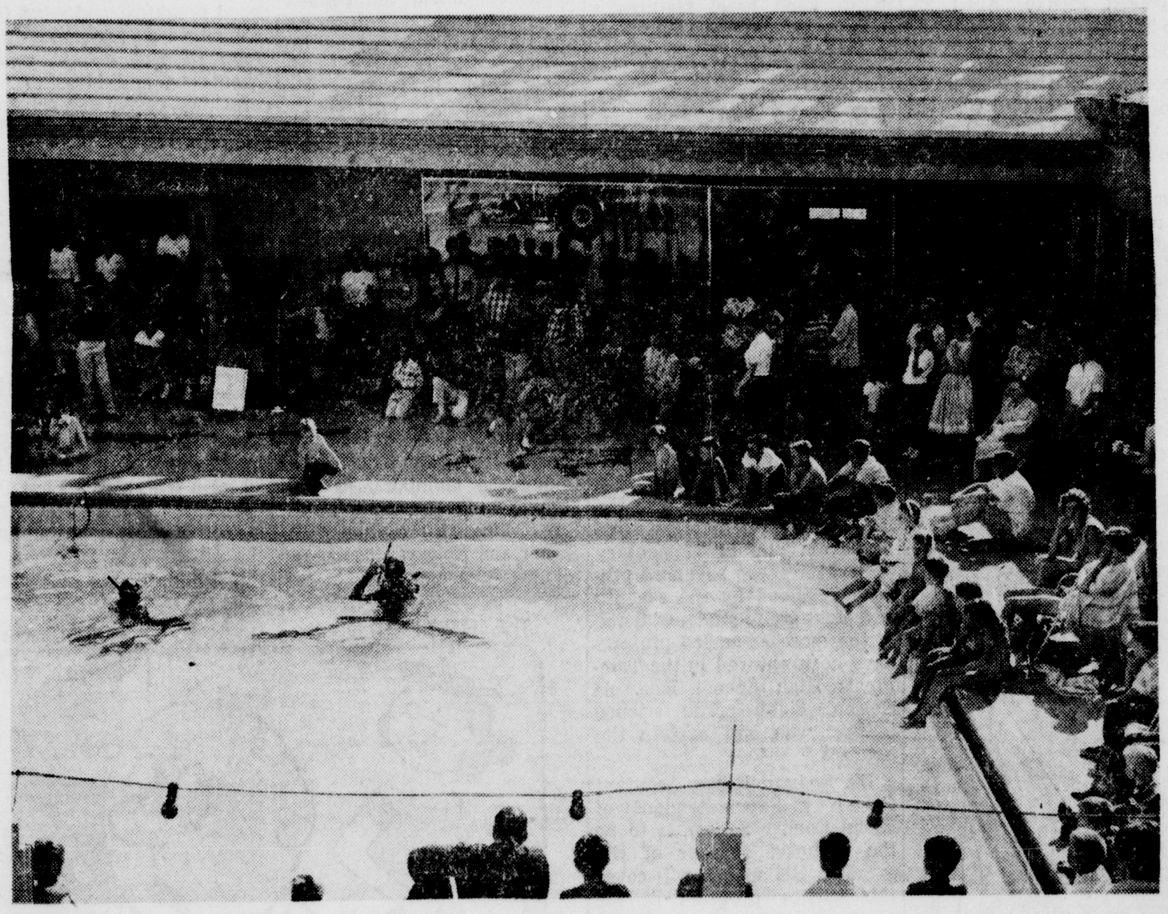

Others winners are Jim R. Gillispie of South San Francisco, an Evinrude motor; V. E. Story of San Rafael, an automatic pool chlorinator; William A. Henderson, Jr., of Larkspur, a rod and reel and C. H. Allen of San Anselmo, a 12-gauge shot loader.

BOATS GALORE — Outboards and sailboats shared some attention in this scene outside the Bermuda Palms Auditorium. Plenty of other crafts and sports and camping items filled the huge arena for the three-day show. In background is archery booth where youngsters shot at balloons.

WATER SHOW — The Bermuda Palms swimming pool was indeed a busy place during the weekend, what with skin-diving and water ballet performances sharing aqua honors at the Sports and Boat Show. Here a pair of skin-divers show some fundamental portions of the rapidly-growing sports. Ann Curtis Cuneo's water ballet also drew large crowds to the poolside.

THE CHAMP — Little Danny Massara of San Francisco, surrounded by other participants, withdraws arrow from target after he was crowned champion in the 9-10-year-old division of the junior archery tournament. Some 50 youngsters in the 7-15 age bracket competed for the many trophies.

MARINE PATROL — The newly-organized Marine Patrol of the Marin County's Sheriff's Department sponsored a booth at the Sports and Boat Show to offer instruction in boating safety and rules of the waterways to visitors. The patrol was organized to assist in the promotion of water safety rescue services and law enforcement. (Jim Kean photos)

Black And White Symphony Ball Ticket Committees Announced

Tickets to a lavish spectacular, the Fifth Annual Black and White Symphony Ball, are on sale following a recent meeting in the Opera House of the ticket committees for San Francisco and the Bay Area. The Ball, justly called "San Francisco's Gayest Party," will be staged Friday, April 22, from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. at four hotels.

Presiding at the first meeting of the ticket sales committees was Mrs. John R. Upton, general co-ordinating chairman for the ball, who announced these regional chairmen and co-chairmen in charge of ticket sales: Mrs. John A. Lesoine, Marin; Mesdames Paul A. Bissinger and F. Ortman Shumate, San Francisco; Mesdames Winston C. Black and Francis S. North, Lower Peninsula; Mrs. Wellington Henderson, Upper Peninsula; Mesdames Henry Hill and Francis S. Bascom, East Bay.

Among those assisting Mrs. Lesoine on the Marin Committee are: Mesdames John F. McCarthy, Dudley F. Miller, Peter Montegani and John C. Nason.

Tickets admit merrymakers to not one but four unique parties, each with its own exciting dance rhythm and decor motif. Each hotel features a different tempo and atmosphere: guests may journey from the snows of Alaska to the sands of Waikiki. They can melt their inhibitions with torrid jazz or glide coolly to romantic Viennese waltzes.

Revellers may remain at one hotel, or "make the rounds" by means of gaily-decorated shuttle buses provided for this purpose—and included in the ticket price. In keeping with the theme of "Black and White," women traditionally wear black, white or a combination of both, and men don "black tie."

The four-part frolic is a fund-raising event presented annually by the San Francisco Symphony Association, which manages, maintains and presents the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, to benefit the orchestra's current operating expenses. Tickets may be purchased from all ticket sales Committee members, as well as the S. F. Opera-Symphony Box Office at Sherman Clay, Sutter and Kearny streets, and all Bay Area agencies.

Karen Detsch Weds Martin D. Vesowate

Karen Louise Detsch became the bride of Martin Dion Vesowate Friday, March 11, in a 4 o'clock ceremony at St. Bridget's Church in San Francisco. Only relatives and a few close friends were present.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winifred C. Detsch of Mill Valley. Mrs. Detsch is director of the Marin County Junior Red Cross. Also of Mill Valley are the bridegroom's parents, Capt. and Mrs. John W. Vesowate.

The young couple exchanged vows in double ring rites performed by the Rev. George Twigg-Porter, S. J., director of the apostleship of prayer and regional director of Sacred Heart TV and radio program from Sacred Heart Convent in San Francisco in 1958.

He had also officiated at her baptism and confirmation.

When the bride was given in marriage by her father, she was wearing a waltz-length gown of white organdy over satin fashioned with flared skirt and fitted bodice having a square neckline and short sleeves. It was trimmed with satin bows down the back.

Her fingertip veil inset with lace fell into points from a tiara of lilies of the valley and pearls, and she carried a missal adorned with lilies of the valley and white orchids.

The matron of honor, Mrs. William Riley of San Francisco, wore a pink organdy dress designed on lines similar to those of the bride's gown, and her headdress was a pink bandeau with short veil. Her flowers were an old-fashioned bouquet of pink rosebuds surrounded by lighter pink carnations.

Best man was John Ashley of Mill Valley, and the bride's only brother, Steven Detsch, a student at Tamalpais High School, showed guests to their seats.

Mrs. Detsch attended her daughter's wedding in a blue and avocado green printed silk suit and green and white cage veil. Green orchids formed her corsage. The bridegroom's mother was attired in an ecru brocade suit and brown velvet hat and wore a corsage of orchids in tan and brown tones.

After the ceremony the newly married pair greeted about 100 guests at a reception given in the home of the bride's parents, which was decorated with white stock and carnations. On the bride's table stood a silver candelabrum containing pink candles and the three-tierred wedding cake decorated on top with miniature bride and bridegroom.

Among those attending the wedding was the bride's paternal grandmother Mrs. Josephine Detsch of Mill Valley.

Since both of the young people are students at the College of Marin, they will defer their honeymoon until the close of the semester, when they plan to go to Texas. Both hope to continue their studies at the University of Texas.

Before attending the College of Marin the bridegroom was graduated from the New Mexico Military Academy. He has a brother, Nicki, and two sisters, Debra and Kris.

Holy Innocents Group Hears About Music

Frank Blake was the speaker at the second of a series of Lenten potluck suppers at Holy Innocents' Parish in Corte Madera. His subject was "Music —A Method of Praise to God."

He said that in apostolic time, the disciples included in their rites the singing of folk songs and the psalms as people needed an expression that was more than the spoken word. As Christianity spread, the finest efforts in sculpture, architecture, and music were contributed to the greater glory of God.

Music developed in three basic lines: chanting, in a melodic line, with no harmony; a cappella, with as many as four simple melodies at one time; and accompanied singing, with solos and choruses. Chanting, the oldest form of musical praise, is still the greatest.

On Thursday, March 17, the Communion Service at 6:30 p.m. will be followed by potluck supper in the parish hall. Joseph Reynolds will be the speaker.

Outdoor Art Club To Hear San Jose State Professor

DR. GRAHAM WILSON

Dr. Graham C. Wilson, who usually speaks on subjects of world wide import, will deal with Beatniks, a movement said to have started in San Francisco, when he returns for a second engagement at the Outdoor Art Club Thursday.

So popular was his lecture last year on "How to be lovable though rich and vulgar" that many special requests were made for another of his lectures.

Under the title "The Angry Young Men and the Beatniks" Dr. Wilson will speak on more than Beatniks, since his lecture covers post-war writing in England and the United States.

Dr. Wilson received his bachelor and master of arts degrees from the University of Colorado and his Ph.D. degree from Stanford University. He has taught at both of these universities as well as at the University of California and is now a professor of English at San Jose State College, where he teaches courses in the history of English literature and in Shakespeare.

He also discusses these subjects in a regular program on KQED-TV.

Known for his wit and as an expert in the field of intercultural subjects, Dr. Wilson has traveled extensively in Europe, Africa and the Far East and believes that travel is an experience that involves people a great deal more than geography and monuments.

Dallas Styles Run Gamut From The Hobo To Bardot

By GAY PAULEY

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—The Dallas fashion industry looks all the way from the hobo to Bardot for inspiration in its spring and summer dress and sportswear.

The hobo influence showed in skirts of bandana printed cotton, worn tied at the front and with the tail flapping casually at the back, over either shorts or skirts.

The Brigitte Bardot look abounded in checked ginghams which have become almost as characteristic of the French actress as her turkish towel. The pouting-faced Bardot even was married in Gingham.

Dallas manufacturers used gingham for full-skirted shirtwaisters or patio dresses, given added fillip with embroidered tiers, braid edgings and brief jackets.

Checks ran from Texas-size to miniatures, while borders, stripes, and plaids continued bold in size but less flashy in color than in previous years.

One manufacturer carried the check theme to tablecloths matched to a patio ensemble of checked culottes and dress.

Bare tops, except for the tiniest of shoulder straps, ran through the collection shown to reporters this week by the Dallas fashion manufacturers center.

At least 50 per cent of the daytime dresses were full-skirted. Fabrics were colorful prints or watercolor pastels, many of them lavishly embroidered. For variety there were white border prints, handkerchief prints, and dark paisleys. Many of the cottons were satin finish, with embossing and over-printing used extensively.

The villager overblouse inspired by fishermen of the Caribbean and extensive in the Paris collections for spring ran through sportswear collections. Many blouses were decorated with cutout print appliques, embroidery or fringe.

Designers also copied Mexican wedding shirt details—squared yoke insets of lace and embroidery.

Many a bare-topped dress came with stoles or triangles of fabric to double as sari-like head wraps, as sashes, or to wear under straw hats, Peruvian fashion.

The form-fitting bodice ruled here, although New York designers earlier showed a looser fitting top. It topped sheath skirts, princess shapes, and skirts with seven-yard sweeps. The result: a minimized waistline.

In solid shades, white proved the leader, followed by misty greens, coral and violet. White often was combined with black, or showed without any relief except in bright hats and jewelry.

Skinny trousers for sports and loafing continued popular in this market, many of them in crazy quilt and cross-patch prints.

Hamilton Scouts Brownies Hold Friendship Party

Girl Scouts and Brownies of the Hamilton Air Force Base Neighborhood recently presented their World Friendship Program to the members of the 16 participating troops.

Judy Elliott, Troop 308, gave the welcoming address, followed by a flag ceremony conducted by members of Troops 352, 60, 256, 335 and 311. The invocation was given by HAFB Chaplain D. W. McCalmont.

Entertaining the girls were Troop 301, singing the "Barnyard Song" from Mexico, Troop 311 doing a Dutch song and dance, and Troop 210 doing a typical Irish dance.

The Intermediate Scouts of Troop 352 explained the meaning of the World Association Flag by presenting a flannelgraph of the flag. Group singing of Girl Scout songs was led by Judy Elliott.

Representatives from each troop dropped the pennies for the World Friendship Fund into an ivy covered Wishing Well. These pennies, together with those from troops all over the country, help to send Girl Scouts and Girl Guides from all over the world to "Our Chalet" in Switzerland.

Displays were set up around the room by each troop.

Members of Troop 308, Mrs. J. W. Saunders, leader, were ushers for the program.

Today is Monday, March 21, the 81st day of the year, with 285 more in 1960

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1635, German composer Johann Sebastian Bach was born.

In 1790, Thomas Jefferson became the first secretary of state, in the cabinet of George Washington.

In 1843, thousands of Americans were panic-stricken all day as they awaited the end of the world predicted by a Pittsfield, Mass., preacher, William Miller.

In 1946, the United Nations moved into temporary headquarters at Hunter College in New York City.

A thought for today: Thomas Jefferson said: "When angry count 10 before you speak; if very angry, an hundred."

Here Are Tips For Young Mother On Caring For The First Baby

We've a new baby, and I'm all unstrung," a young mother writes.

"He's our first. He is one-week-old and getting along well, but I'm not. My mother tells me to do one thing. Then my mother-in-law advises the exact opposite. Will you give me some suggestions, Dr. Barbour?"

Did you know that nearly all conscientious mothers feel as you feel with their first baby? Things will settle down for you soon. Here are four basic suggestions:

Trust yourself: You have maternal instincts. Your primitive ancestors were guided by them, and nothing else. Their babies grew up. You also have common sense. Use it. When well-meaning relatives tell you to do something which seems foolish, don't do it. The baby is yours, not theirs. Apart from your doctor, you are your own best guide.

Trust your doctor: Be sure he is a good one. He has helped many babies get started in life. He knows how important the first months are. Try not to call him for every little thing. But consult him when real problems come.

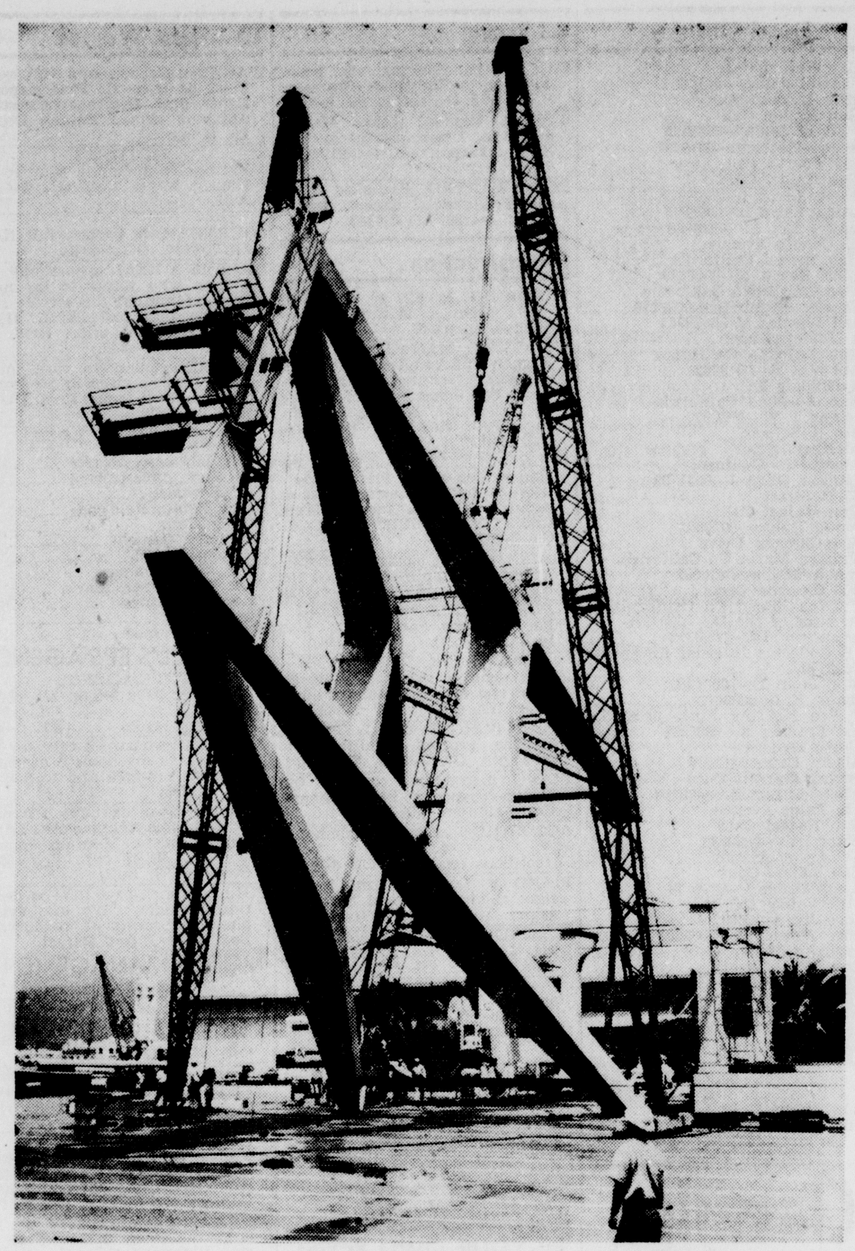

Trust your baby: He has an active set of instincts too. He'll tell you when he's hungry. He knows how much food he should eat. He'll speak up when he's uncomfortable, be quiet when things are okay and he'll soon work out a schedule which you can follow. Then your days and nights won't be too helter-skelter. Let him enjoy life. He needs to learn that you'll take care of him no matter what happens. He needs to sense the security of your love.

Use the shortcuts: You've too much to do right now. Find the quickest, easiest ways to work. Use the diaper laundry service, if you can afford it. Get your husband to help you with the baby, and the housework. He'll benefit too.

(Q)—"Our baby does not suck her thumb. The doctor said she is too tense and jittery. He told us to get a pacifier. Is that really wise?" — R.E.C.

(A)—I believe so. It will help her feel contented and to relax. Many doctors now advise pacifiers for babies who don't suck their thumbs.

MAMMOTH BUILDING JOB

One of the most intricate construction jobs in the history of the Hawaiian Islands was carried out last week when, in a single day, this 80-ton hoist was erected at the site of a four-million-dollar ship cargo container facility in Honolulu. Aloft is a 130-foot A-frame crane section of Matson Navigation Co.'s $350,000 container crane. Completion of the project is scheduled for mid-April.

Education Board Eyes Land Pacts

Terms of a proposed agreement on property transfers and associated subjects between the City of San Rafael and the San Rafael School District will be discussed at a meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the school offices, 215 Mission street.

The contract containing terms of agreement has been suggested by Leland H. Jordan, county counsel, as basis for necessary legal procedures having to do with land deeding, street extension, drainage and building removal.

Involved is transfer from district to city of several land parcels, closing of part of High street and deeding to the district on completion of Union street, and removal of some district-owned buildings.

Another piece of new business is a request from the College of Marin for use of a room in the E Street School for a special adult class.

Bids will be opened for site work at Terra Linda High School.

Bowling Center Raises Total Of County Building

A $350,000 bowling center project pushed total valuation of building permits to $598,210 for the week ending March 11, according to figures released by the Marin County Building Inspection Department.

The bowling center will be owned by William Nave of Novato, of the Nave Shopping Center on South Novato boulevard, and is to be built by the Wilco Construction Co. on the East Frontage road, Ignacio.

An eight-unit apartment building to cost $38,000 is to be built for J. B. Williams for $38,000 valuation at 7 Merrydale road, Rafael Meadows.

Novato permits for the same week aggregated $128,148, mostly comprising four $30,000 six-unit apartments on Leafwood drive.

Last Of Siegfried Line Defenses Being Razed

KARLSRUHE, Germany (UPI)—The work of demolishing Adolf Hitler's "Siegfried Line" is almost complete at last—20 years after its completion and 15 years after the war that ended its usefulness.

For 15 years, demolition workers have been blowing up the concrete-and-steel pillboxes and the anti-tank "Dragon teeth."

Now the last remaining stretch between Karlsruhe and Kehl—on the German side of the Rhine opposite Strasbourg, France — is being blown to pieces.

Hitler ordered work started on the Siegfried Line in 1936 as a bulwark against attack from the west. He named it after the legendary Germanic hero.

Work began just after Hitler's armies moved into the Rhineland, which had been demilitarized by the Treaty of Versailles. By the time of its completion in 1939, the fortifications stretched along the German border from Holland to Switzerland.

To the Germans, the Siegfried Line was known simply as the "West Wall."

The Siegfried Line, because of its late start, never became as complex as France's Maginot Line, which was begun shortly after the first World War.

During the Nazi "Blitzkrieg attack on Poland in 1939, French soldiers in Maginot defenses and German soldiers in the Siegfried Line, sat and watched each other in what was then dubbed the Sitzkrieg."

While England was singing "We'll Hang Our Washing on the Siegfried Line," Hitler turned from Sitzkrieg to Blitzkrieg. The Wehrmacht outflanked the Maginot Line and roared into the low countries.

After the Allies gained their foothold on the continent and began pushing the Germans back, Hitler's armies pulled back behind the Siegfried Line —but to no avail.

Early in 1945, the Allies smashed through the fixed German fortifications.

The tremendous task of blowing the West Wall to pieces began between the Rhine and Saar Rivers soon after the war. A few underground bunkers were left for use as Allied ammunition dumps or command posts.

The demolition is proving difficult.

Usually, 50 or more holes must be bored for explosives before the armored roofing can be blasted. Then the steel joists are pried out of the earth and the steel base broken up.

The rubble is given to nearby villagers, who use it to fill holes in their dirt roads.

Cactus plants like fresh air, but warm. Freezing air is painful to them.

Court Will Hear Forgery Charge

Dorothy J. Boothe, 28, Novato secretary-bookkeeper, will be prosecuted in Marin Superior Court on three counts of forgery and one count of grand theft.

She was held to answer after a preliminary hearing before Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Harold F. Wolters said she would be arraigned in superior court on March 28. Mrs. Booth is free on bail.

She is accused of forging checks and grand theft from real estate man Robert C. Campbell, for whom she worked from August last year to January this year.

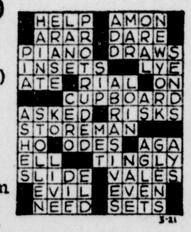

Real Estate Speaker

Daniel Coleman, of the Coleman Engineering Co. of San Francisco, will be the guest speaker at the Marin County Real Estate Board's breakfast meeting tomorrow at 8 a.m. at the King Cotton Restaurant, San Rafael. He will speak on the transformation of raw land into usable building lots.

Recreation Unit Studies Site Plan

The Strawberry Recreation District has appointed a committee to determine how to best develop the field and recreation center.

The district received estimated costs by architects Rolland Hammond and J. Martin Rosse at $3,400 to $5,000 for rough grading of the area and $5,000 to $7,000 for the development of two ball fields. The financial condition does not permit immediate action, Secretary Mrs. J. W. Gowen said.

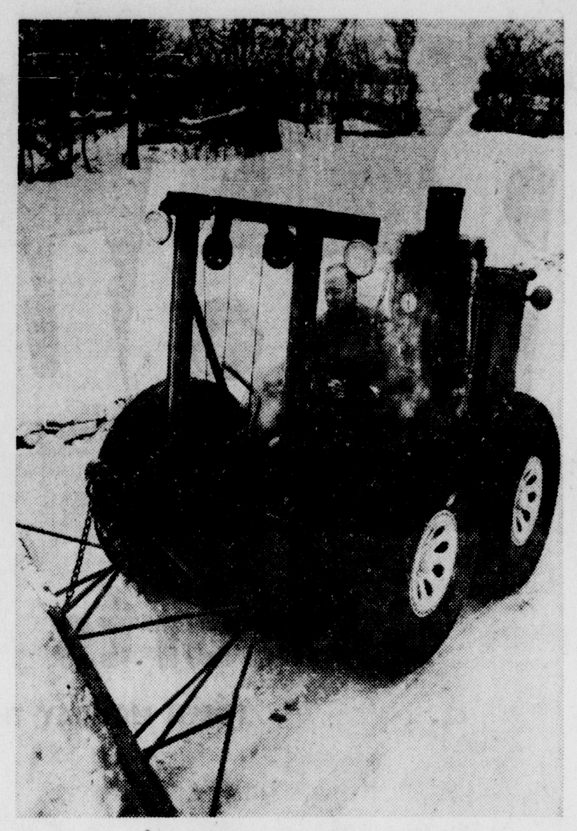

Committee members are Stephen Kaufmann, chairman; C. G. Bush and Mrs. J. W. Gowen.

Interment Group Elects Dentist

Dr. T. Galt Atwood, San Francisco dentist who resides with his wife and two sons at 93 Kent avenue, Kentfield, recently was installed president of the Interment Assn. of California.

Besides being active in the development of Mt. Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael, Atwood is president of Olivet Memorial Park, Colma, and executive vice president of Cypress Abbey Co., San Francisco.

Latest per capita figure for American consumption of canned foods was 75.65 pounds annually, 50 per cent more than 20 years ago.

Naval Reserve Sets Open House At Marin College

Current military requirements and the means of fulfilling them will be explained to Marin County youths tomorrow at a Naval Reserve open house at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall, College of Marin.

Titled "You and the Military," the program is sponsored by Naval Reserve Composite Company 12-17 of Kentfield. Invitations have been extended to students facing military service after high school, as well as their parents and other interested persons.

A question period and individual consultation will follow talks by naval personnel on military obligations; reserve program procedures, opportunities and benefits, and professional opportunities available through Navy officer programs.

Capt. Sydney P. Murman of San Anselmo, commanding officer of the reserve unit, said the program will be "informational, not for recruitment."

LAW IN ACTION

Educational Level Of Jurors Rising

This column, prepared by California attorneys so you may know more about our laws appears regularly in the Independent-Journal.)

Our constitution promises an accused person a jury trial, but only you—and thousands of people like you—can keep that promise.

Did you ever beg off from jury service? Did it interfere with your work or play? Well "the government" itself can give no one a jury trial—unless free men and women like you take time out to sit down and hear a case, and conscientiously reach a verdict.

The old Greeks held that only a citizen could take part in the administration of justice.

Whether you serve willingly or not, our jury system is up against it in many ways.

How can we improve ways to pick jurors; train them; instruct them in the law of the case they are trying; and weed out the unfit?

Are there no good signs on the horizon? Yes, many a trial lawyer has remarked on one singular fact: Twenty or 30 years ago most jurors were relatively poorly educated.

Perhaps had no schooling beyond the fifth or sixth grade. They were mostly men, often rounded up at the last minute in parks and off the street.

In California the average education in the 1950 census was better than ninth grade, and many believe that the new census will show it to be nearly high school graduation.

Such jurors, some lawyers claim, have a sharper eye for revelant facts and may not be so easily swayed as they once were. Besides a large number are women.

There are few "professional" jurors these days picked up for the occasion. They are summoned from their work to represent a cross section of the community.

One "soft spot" in our jury system, many think, is the long list of otherwise able people who do not have to serve either because the public welfare demands their services on the job; or because of their work, they may well have formed opinions. Among them are:

Lawyers—their clerks and secretaries; physicians, dentists and pharmacists. Teachers, professors, clergymen, certain railroad workers, seamen, pilots and steamboat workers, ferryboat men, workers for telephone and telegraph companies.

Certain government people — firemen, national guardemen and military men, certain attendants at state institutions, mail carriers, jail employees, etc.

Prison Planning Typewriter Display

The typewriter, an instrument taken for granted by secretaries and newspapermen, will have its day next Friday at San Quentin prison in a public exhibit of ancient writing machines.

According to Associate Warden Walter D. Acuff, it is the first time a show of this kind has ever been staged in California.

The show is sponsored by the prison's education department. Assisting in the venture is the institution's vocational office machine repair shop which is lending and donating some of the old time machines for the show.

Drake Adopts Mexico School

The Chapultapec School, a small, rural school near Patzcuaro, Mexico which has been "adopted" by Sir Francis Drake High School, now has another Marin school as its "parent."

Following a recent broadcast over radio station KTIM which told of the school, the sixth grade students at Isabel Cook School decided to collect clothing for their south-of-the-border classmates.

The Mexican government gives aid to city schools only, the broadcast told, leaving the rural schools without financial assistance.

FERRARI'S

Marin's largest, most completely stocked STATIONERY STORE

TO OUR MANY FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS:

Just a word or two in explanation of this unprecedented sale . . . Since taking over operation of Ferrari's last summer we have consistently tried to maintain full and complete stocks in order to better serve all our customers. Your response has proven that our policy is correct. However, inventories have a way of creeping up on you . . . it's happened to us. Loads of new merchandise is arriving and we haven't room for it. We're completely overstocked. But, more important, we need cash to pay for it! It's as simple as that! Our tremendous variety of merchandise makes it impossible to selectively mark every item at a reduced price, therefore we're making one basic price cut. 40% off on everything . . . right across the board. Just take a look at the price and deduct 40%.

sincerely yours,

THE HORNS
